Buy $7 tag or burn up

HIGH RIDGE, Mo. (AP) — Brush fires and controversy over volunteer fire fighting policies raged with equal heat in and around High Ridge Wednesday.

But firemen shrugged off the controversy and plunged into controlling a brush fire that burned a six-mile-long swath across timbered hills.

Only hours before the High Ridge volunteer firemen were surrounded by an angry crowd and forced to extinguish a fire in a home just six doors from the site of a house that was permitted to burn to the ground March 18. Neither owner had purchased a $7 fire protection tag.

In between the March 18 fire in the John Akers home and Tuesday night's blaze at the Phillip Rush house, the same firemen extinguished a blaze at an untaxed house because a mother and child were in danger.

High Ridge and surrounding communities, about 20 miles southwest of St. Louis depend upon volunteer firemen for protection. The High Ridge department, and others like it, depend for maintenance and operation of their equipment on the sale of fire tags.

There are nearly as many opinions in Jefferson County as there are people but most sentiment seems to favor the firemen.

"They're getting a raw deal all around," said one unhappy law enforcement officer who tried to hold off the angry crowd Tuesday night. Mrs. Owen Lober, pointed to her fire protection tag and said: "It's a terrible thing to let a person's home burn down," but she added "I feel everybody should have one (tag)."

A few doors up the street, a woman who wished to remain unidentified said her family has not bought a fire tag and will not buy one.

"We see it as a moral issue," she said. "They just stood around at the Akers fire. They didn't even go in to help the people like we did."

Fire Chief Julius Petry explained that if the department fights fires in untaxed homes, there will be no incentive for others to buy tags and no money for operations. But he said anytime a life is in danger, the firemen act.

A.P. Kern, who lives just across the street, from Akers is a professional fireman. "I can see the firemen's point of view," Kern said. "But as a professional fireman and a man I couldn't stand by and see a man's home burn to the ground."

Kennedy enters Indiana race

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy decided Wednesday to enter Indiana's May 7 presidential primary, setting up a potential three-way battle with Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and a stand-in for President Johnson.

And the President's challenger from New York called on the government to free young men from military obligation in peacetime if they have served the country in other ways.

President lines up governors

Republican states trouble to Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although 14 of 24 Democratic governors are listed as Johnson supporters, administration lieutenants are finding that many state party leaders are reluctant to stand up and be counted for President Johnson's re-nomination.

A large share of these potential defectors to Sens. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., are turning up in the 26 states that have Republican governors.

These states will have 1,382 votes at the Democratic convention in Chicago next August, 70 more than needed for the nomination.

An Associated Press survey disclosed that 14 Democratic governors are supporting the President, six are noncommittal, one is threatening to leave Johnson over Vietnam, one backs Kennedy and two are for former Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama.

In Republican-governed states Johnson will have to win contested primaries to get the delegations of five states—Wisconsin, Nebraska, Oregon, California and South Dakota. In none of these is the President currently looked upon as the favorite.

In Nebraska, where McCarthy will be a challenger, the White House induced former Gov. Frank Morrison, as well as the state chairman and national committeeman, to come out publicly for Johnson.

But the delegation's 30 votes will go to the winner of the primary. Kennedy has booked himself into Lincoln, Neb., Thursday for a university speech and a meeting with Democratic officials. McCarthy will be going in as soon as he completes his Wisconsin campaign this week.

There are fresh reports of trouble for the President in Ohio and Pennsylvania, previously supposed to be securely in the Johnson camp.

The Ohio Democratic organization is running Sen. Stephen M. Young, a vigorous Vietnam war critic, as a favorite son for complimentary support on the first ballot at the Chicago convention. Young has confided to friends that the leaders are getting nervous about trying to transfer all of the state's 115 votes to Johnson subsequently.

A Democrat intimately associated with the situation in Pennsylvania said the Johnson camp's dependence on Mayors Joseph Barr of Pittsburgh and James Tate of Philadelphia for the state's 130 votes could be shaken before the convention. McCarthy's name is on the April 23 primary ballot, which is not binding on the delegation.

There are political storm signs in some of the 14 states whose governors are supporting Johnson. These states include Texas, Tennessee, West Virginia, Delaware, Hawaii, New Hampshire, Indiana, Illinois, Utah, Connecticut, New Jersey, South Carolina, North Dakota and Louisiana.

Kennedy may challenge Johnson's bid for Indiana's 63 votes with Gov. Roger D. Branigan running as a stand-in for the President in the May 7 primary. The action of Illinois Atty. Gen. William G. Clark, a candidate for the Senate against Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, in expressing "grave concern" over Johnson's Vietnam war course in turn has caused concern at the White House.

Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago, who picked Clark and turned down Adlai E. Stevenson III partly because of antiwar views, was supposed to have the 118-vote delegation in his pocket for Johnson.

The President's supporters wondered just how Clark's statement would fit in with Daley's declaration that Democratic candidates in the state would "carry the banner of Lyndon Johnson into every household."

In Utah, Gov. Calvin Rampton who has been a long-time Johnson supporter, has encountered anti-Johnson sentiment at home that might threaten his ability to deliver the state's 26 votes to the President.

Iowa Gov. Harold E. Hughes, a candidate for the Senate, evidenced that he is feeling the antiwar pressure when he spoke of leaving the Johnson camp

U.S. calls close-in strikes

Wholesale prices increasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs continued upward in February with a rise of three-tenths of one per cent, and sharply higher wholesale prices indicated no let-up in the near future, the government reported Wednesday.

Increases for food, housing, clothing and medical care pushed the Labor Department's consumer price index up to 119.0. This means it cost $11.90 last month for what a typical family paid $10 in the 1957-59 period on which the index is based.

The value of the 1957-59 dollar dropped to 84 cents in February.

The index has been rising for the past five months at an annual rate of four per cent. This would be the steepest climb in more than a decade if the trend continues throughout 1968.

Wholesale prices rose seven-tenths of one per cent, biggest monthly jump in two years, including a hefty 1.5 per cent increase for farm products and processed foods.

"It does appear it will continue to go up," said Arnold Chase, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. He referred to the cost of living.

Grocery prices and housing costs each rose four-tenths of one per cent in February. Clothing and medical care services were up six-tenths. The only major price category to decline was transportation, down one-tenth.

Despite the rising prices, a longer work week and a one-cent hourly rise in pay boosted the average purchasing power of some 45 million workers by 55 cents a week in February.

The average weekly paycheck was $104.33, highest in history and a gain of $1.20 per week from January. After taxes and allowing for price increases, the average weekly wage was worth $78.03 in terms of the 1957-59 dollars.

IRS finds

Two plus two not always four

WASHINGTON (AP) — Millions of Americans still have problems filling out their income tax returns—correctly—although the Internal Revenue Service says taxpayers' arithmetic seems to be improving.

The IRS said errors have been spotted on almost seven per cent of all individual income tax returns filed by Americans this year.

The IRS said the chief barrier to an accurate tax return is no longer poor arithmetic but the use by taxpayers of the wrong tax table or the wrong line or column in the correct tax table.

Mixed-up arithmetic now rates as the second most prominent factor in errors.

Americans have generally compiled a better record so far this year than last in filing errorless tax returns, IRS figures showed. Of the more than 24 million individual returns filed through March 15, errors were spotted on 1.65 million returns—or 6.8 per cent. Last year errors were counted on 7.4 per cent of the 21 million returns which had been filed by the same date. The deadline for filing returns is April 15.

About 20 per cent of all returns—and the IRS expects about 80 million individual returns this year—are filed during the final weekend before the deadline—although the IRS says this holds up refunds owed many taxpayers.

About one-third of all mistakes uncovered so far this year stem from use of the wrong tax table or line—$68,995. This is followed by arithmetic errors at 428,444.

Mild rules on travel gets approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee Wednesday approved mild restraints on the spending of U.S. travelers abroad.

It said the tougher travel tax President Johnson proposed might be considered later, in another package of measures designed to right the balance of payments.

The bill the committee sent to the House—falling far short of administration hopes—would apply to all air tickets for foreign destinations, including U.S. offshore areas. This is the same 5 per cent tax now applying to domestic flights.

The bill would also cut the duty-free allowance for goods tourists buy abroad and bring home.

After that the most common errors are missing W-2 salary forms supplied by employers, missing signatures and missing, wrong, or incomplete Social Security numbers.

Through mid-March the IRS said it had paid out $2.8 billion in tax refund checks to 15.8 million taxpayers. The number of refunds was 42 per cent ahead of the same time last year while the amount paid out was 68 per cent ahead.

Czechs criticize Red partners

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's foreign minister summoned East Germany's ambassador Wednesday night to protest an attack that was likened here to calling him an "imperialist agent." The attack and the official complaint were believed unprecedented in Soviet bloc diplomacy.

The Czech news agency CTK reported that Foreign Minister Václav David notified Ambassador Peter Florin of an "official objection" to statements that "reflected on Czechoslovakia and a member of the Czechoslovak government."

He referred to a speech in East Germany by Kurt Hager, secretary of the East German party Central Committee. He singled out Forestry Minister Josef Smrkovsky, a leading Czech liberal and candidate for the vacant post of president, as one of those who are "filling the West with hope that Czechoslovakia will be pulled into the maelstrom."

The incident, reflecting new tension between the orthodox Communist nations of East Europe and the reform leadership in Czechoslovakia, came as party sources reported the reformers readying a program to shed Iron Curtain restrictions on individual liberty and permit "no-confidence" votes against the government.

CTK also reported that Czech Ambassador Václav Kolar called in East Berlin on Erich

Honecker, a top member of the East German Politburo, and East German Foreign Minister Otto Winzer, "expressing objections and disagreement with the statements" made by Hager.

In East Berlin, the East German news agency ADN made no immediate mention of the protest. But it reported that Winzer gave a dinner in "an open and friendly atmosphere" for Kolar and the Polish ambassador on the occasion of the first anniversary of East German friendship pacts with the two countries.

The Hager comments stirred widespread indignation here. One party source spoke of a "sneak attack," and the Association of Czechoslovak Anti-Fascist Fighters called Hager's statement "interference in the democratic affairs of a fraternal country."

It stated his accusation was equal to calling Smrkovsky an "imperialist agent."

A highly placed Czechoslovak informant, commenting on the deteriorating situation said, "If they wanted to enter into public polemics with us we are ready, although we always wanted to avoid such a thing."

The proposals for further liberalization in Czechoslovakia are part of an "action program" party informants said the leadership would submit Thursday.

Viet Cong defense fierce

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. troops called in artillery fire and air strikes of napalm only 50 yards from their positions Wednesday in a raging battle for a hamlet northwest of Saigon near Cambodia's border.

The Viet Cong fought back with automatic weapons and rocket-propelled grenades from trenches and spider holes in Ap Long Muc. By nightfall, the Americans were reported to have seized only one-fourth of the hamlet. Heavy fighting continued.

The bitter opposition indicated that U.S. forces in Operation Quyet Thang — Resolve to Win — had caught up with some of the main Viet Cong battalions that fell back toward Cambodia when this biggest drive of the war opened March 11.

U.S. 25th Infantry Division troops moved in on the hamlet Tuesday and ran into heavy fire from enemy entrenchments. Tanks and armored personnel carriers came up in support.

Fighting continued through the night with artillery pounding the hamlet and jets bombing and dropping fiery napalm.

By morning, U.S. artillery fire was bursting 85 yards in front of American positions, reported AP photographer Al Chang, who was slightly wounded in the chest by shrapnel.

Lt. Col. John H. Tipton, a battalion commander, asked his artillery liaison officer: "Can we put more artillery in closer?" "Yes we can, but there's a good chance of hitting our own people," replied the officer, Lt. John J. Menning.

But the chance was taken and the close shelling caused no American casualties, Chang said. Fighter-bombers also closed in to 50 to 75 yards ahead of the American lines, dousing napalm on the Viet Cong positions.

Ap Long Muc is a kidney-shaped hamlet about 800 yards long and 200 yards wide 30 miles northwest of Saigon.

Fighting on a smaller scale farther south around Trang Bang was also in its second day. It began Tuesday when 25th Division troops in a helicopter landed four miles northeast of Trang Bang and were attacked by Viet Cong waiting in trenches and bunkers with machine guns and rocket-propelled grenades.

U.S. headquarters said at least 17 of the enemy were killed, bringing to 396 the number of Viet Cong dead counted in the Trang Bang area since Sunday. U.S. casualties were described as light.

The U.S. Command said that so far U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in Operation Quyet Thang have killed 1,842 Viet Cong and captured 293. U.S. losses were 89 killed and 604 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were given as 92 killed and 232 wounded.

The aim of the operation is to lift the Viet Cong threat to Saigon and regain the initiative the enemy seized in the lunar new year offensive.

PSEA rejects salary bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — The president of the Pennsylvania State Education Association (PSEA) said Wednesday the state's public school teachers would not accept Senate attempts to trim $18 million from a salary bill.

The president, Joseph Standa of Johnstown, said he would call a special meeting of the PSEA's Legislative Committee on Friday to consider a "resolution that could have a major bearing on the PSEA's future course of action."

"I cannot discuss the contents of the resolution at this time," Standa said, "but it will be a major development."

The object of the PSEA's ire is a heavily amended bill, released by the Senate Education Committee Tuesday night, that would provide about $35 million for higher teachers' salaries in the 1968-69 school year.

The original bill, passed by the House two weeks ago, would have provided about $53 million to give the state's 103,000 public school teachers and administrators a $500 across-the-board pay hike in 1968-69.

Although the PSEA was not completely satisfied with the House measure, Standa had said it would have been "an adequate stopgap bill."

"But the salary bill, as it stands right now, is totally inadequate," Standa said.

In its present form, the bill would give all local school districts a six per cent increase in state subsidies, with the districts to decide for themselves how the additional money should be distributed to teachers.

Moreover, the bill would raise the statewide minimum starting salary for teachers from $4,500 to $5,400 for the 1968-69 school year.

Other provisions of the bill would raise the minimum starting salary to $6,000 and boost the subsidy base for local school districts from $400 to $850 per pupil, but not until new revenue programs have been adopted to cover the cost.

No definite date was set for the increase of the minimum salary to $8,000 or the hike in state subsidy payments, nor was the total cost of these increases estimated.

The Senate also deleted from the bill a provision that would have provided pay increases for county and district school superintendents.

The bill will be in position for a final vote when the Senate returns at 3 p. m. Monday. Both Democrats and Republicans, however, have agreed that amendments can be offered from the floor at that time.

LCB plans self-service in stores

HARRISBURG (AP) — A pilot program offering both self-service and regular counter sales to Pennsylvania liquor customers has been approved, the State Liquor Control Board said Wednesday.

Chairman William Z. Scott said the board agreed to the experimental plan to determine whether the combination operation would be as successful in Pennsylvania as it has been in other states.

"The states that have put self-service operations into effect have raved about the results," Scott said.

There was no date set for the pilot test to be instituted since it first will require that 10 additional stores be built with more floor space than contained in the existing 705 outlets.

Frank Rutter, director of the Bureau of State Stores, said the contemplated self-service display areas would require an additional 1,500-to-2,000 square feet of floor space. Existing stores cover approximately 3,000 square feet.

"We are making surveys as to where the new stores should be located," Rutter said, indicating that they most likely would cover the four corners of the state so as to be representative of the entire commonwealth.

5 proposals good product Broderick says

YORK, Pa. (AP) — Lt. Gov. Raymond J. Broderick rejected Wednesday the proposition that the work of the Constitutional Convention was nothing more than a compromise.

"Our recommendations are not, as some would have you believe, compromises," Broderick said in a York speech.

"They are the opinions of a majority of delegates after 90 days of debate and almost 400 votes taken on the floor of the convention," he continued.

"The Convention molded a divergence of views into recommendations which the majority of delegates consider workable for today, tomorrow."

Broderick, who served as convention president, has been named head of a special "Committee For Five Yes Votes" attempting to win voter approval of the five convention proposals on the April 23 ballot.

The convention proposals would revise existing constitutional language pertaining to local government, taxation and finance, judiciary, and legislative apportionment.

Have no strike clause

Greentown's flying tourists

BY PEGGY BANCROFT
Pocono Record
Correspondent

GREENTOWN — First there was the trash collectors' strike in New York City. Then the "fever" spread to Scranton.

When March 10 came and went with no sign of the special "trash troops" arriving in Greentown — for the first time in 30 years — folks began to wonder: "what's happened to the buzzards?"

Last seen in the late Autumn of 1937, Greentown's buzzard flock was wearing glossy black feathers, edged in grayish brown; bills surrounded by bright red skin; were barenecked and bareheaded, and had an overall air of ragged disregard for finery or fuss.

Every year for 30 years, the gangling, gruesome, grumpy creatures have been nowhere in sight on March 9. But when the morning of March 10 dawned each year, whether misty or foggy, dark or bright, there they were, the whole crew, perched on every branch of every tree, ready for their vacation in the Poconos.

And then came 1968 and March 10. One lone buzzard wheeled and circled in the cold late-Winter sky. Scout or sentinel, front-runner or lookout, he (or she?) sailed up and down the air currents — alone.

The Edward Parsons family, "Keepers of the birds" since they were willed the flock after building their home in the area where the birds had once feasted and gorged themselves on offcuts from the butcher shop nearby, were mystified.

Or perhaps the really mystifying part of the whole bird-business is how the word was passed to generation upon generation of buzzards that the moment had arrived to fly back to those goodies on the banks of the Wallenpaupack Creek, even after the goodies had long been dispensed and forgotten.

Perhaps the birds themselves have reminisced about the good old days in Greentown when there was food on every bush — or under it — for the flock. Most birds are chatty creatures, of course, clucking, chirping, whistling, peeping and singing their way through life. But not buzzards. Their "voices" go with their appearance, for they sputter in low, grumpy sounds or, when really stirred up about something, they hiss.

Harbingers of spring
Folks in Greentown were not really concerned about the missing buzzards, those "repulsive harbingers of spring." Except that the trees looked so bare for March, without lumpy black clumps of feathers draped around. And the skies were so empty — no wheeling, gracefully — circling birds lazily about in the space over Greentown.

No, you never miss the water till the well runs dry, and you couldn't possibly miss a flock of vultures, not even when you remember the funny things they do, like stuffing themselves so full that they can't get off the ground, or perching like 100 silent shadows on a huge hollow tree like — strange kind of black leaves.

It had been surmised that perhaps Leap Year threw the schedule out a bit and that they were too confused to appear.

Maybe they really had heard about the garbage collectors' strikes, and, being the most famous street-cleaning department ever known, were holding out for shorter hours, more sailing time, fewer bones, and carrion in every pot.

Whatever the reason, it couldn't officially be spring in the mountains until they checked in at Greentown.

And check in they finally did — earlier this week — one week late and only 25 in number.

Now everybody's wondering why so few, and so late?

Pen Argyl School seeks proposed building site

PEN ARGYL — A three-man committee was appointed and authorized to collaborate with the architect and choose a proposed site for the Pen Argyl School District's planned new elementary school.

Leonard Dell'Alba, president of the Pen Argyl School District Board of Education, appointed the following persons to the committee during Monday night's regular meeting:

George Humphreys of Pen Argyl, Daniel Ruggiero of Wind Gap and Dell'Alba of Plainfield Township.

Dell'Alba told board members that a building authority has been established for the Northampton County Community College. The Authority consists of one member from each of the eight sponsoring districts. Dell'Alba noted that the Community College will present a line-to-line budget to the sponsoring districts.

In other actions, the board hired two teachers and accepted the resignation of two others.

Miss Gail Troxell of Wind Gap was employed as an elementary teacher at an annual salary of $5,200. James Brodt of Pen Argyl will become the secondary school librarian in September at a salary of $5,200.

The resignation of Mrs. Walter J. Kellow was accepted with regret. J. Ronald Mowery also resigned in order to participate in a National Science Foundation Academic Year Institute at the University of South Dakota. Mrs. Vivian S. Wagner resigned as the girls' basketball coach.

The Board passed a resolution that the compulsory retirement age of all employees be set at 65 years of age. This policy will become effective at the end of the 1968-69 school year.

The decision to increase the rates of the school lunches was made. Beginning in September, elementary children will pay 35 cents, high school students 40 cents, and adults 50 cents. In order to meet the competition in surrounding industry, the Board adopted the following salary schedule for cafeteria employees: starting salary, $1.40 per hour; head cook, $2.00; assistant cook, $1.60; helper and part-time employee, $1.60; dishwasher, $1.80; substitute helpers—$1.40. This schedule is to become effective on July 1, 1968.

The Board approved a request of B. W. Crawshaw, superintendent, to hire an additional homemaker teacher. Until two years ago, there were two teachers in the Home Economics Department.

It was decided that the policy of renting two rooms in the Garfield Building for use of the county-operated classes in Special Education for $600 per year be continued. The county office on Special Services was also granted permission to use one room in the Garfield Building to house one class from June 17 through August 5 for the summer speech program.

Bills for the month of March in the amount of $88,155 were authorized to be paid. Athletic bills of $1,675 for the period February 20 to March 1 also were authorized to be paid.

The athletic budget of $22,376 for 1968-69 was approved. The Board decided to install asphalt runways for track events on the athletic field. Four bids had been requested. Two bids were received: Hummer of Nazareth offered to install the runways at a cost of $922; Wentzell of Wind Gap submitted a bid of $645. The bid of Wentzell was accepted.

It was decided to recognize gymnastics as an interscholastic sport.

A total 67 girls and 30 boys have been participating in the sport as an activity daily at 7:10 a.m. The cost of equipping a team of ten girls and ten boys to compete in interscholastic event would be $292.

Open house will honor Rev. Roof

GREENTOWN — An open house at the Hemlock Grove Methodist Church, Greentown, on Sunday from 2 to 6 p. m., will highlight the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of the Rev. and Mrs. Harry C. Roof, who served the South Sterling Methodist Charge for 29 years.

Married on March 27, 1918, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham, in Herricksville, by the Rev. George Callendar, now deceased, the young couple went to Towanda and Binghamton on their wedding trip. Mr. Roof's parents were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roof.

The Rev. Mr. Roof started his ministry at Thornhurst, on January 1, 1919, remaining there for eight years, and then moving to Pocono Lake where he served the same charge for three more years.

It was in April, 1930, that the Roofs came to South Sterling to begin what was to be one of the longest continuous terms of service in Methodist history. He remained at South Sterling, serving the LaAnna, South Sterling and Hemlock Grove Churches for 29 years, retiring in 1959.

Sterling was originally part of this charge, and he served that church for one month, when it was placed on the Hamlin-Sterling Charge.

The Roofs are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Robert Krieger, of Greentown, and Mrs. Carl Green, Union Bridge, Maryland. There have been seven grandchildren.

Friends are invited to greet the local couple, who make their home in Angeles, on Sunday at the Church in Greentown.

U. N. failing once again

The United Nations continues to wallow in its own futility. In fact, the organization that was supposed to bring peace and understanding to the world is becoming an out and out joke.

This past week has marked another chapter in the novel relating to the United Nations' failures in the struggle for peace since its formation at the close of World War II.

Israel and Jordan have resumed their almost daily fighting, featuring border clashes, sneak attacks, hit and run invasions and long distance shelling, while in New York the U.N. has resumed its daily debate on the troubled Middle East.

Just as the U.N. failed to halt the struggle in Vietnam, the fighting in Korea, the Turkish-Greek clashes, the Red China-India tiffs, it has failed to do anything about Jordan and Israel.

True, the U.N. did play a role in bringing a very unsteady peace to Africa, even though gun fire is heard throughout the jungle on a daily basis.

The U.N. has condemned Israel for the most recent fighting in the Middle East, but once again fails to show any strength in its plea for peace in Israel and Jordan.

Member nations must show strength soon and must be willing to volunteer armed forces to the cause of the United Nations if the latter organization is to survive and is to have any sort of place in the sun in future years.

As of now, the U.N. offers no obstacle to war. It doesn't scare a single nation and aggressor nations never worry that it will come to the aid of one of the victim countries.

The U.N. must change and it can only change if member nations, both those of the free world and the Communist bloc, work toward the common goal of peace.

Dedication at its best

Dedication is a word that seldom rings true in modern life. There are only a few people with dedication remaining in the daily routine of living.

However, Tuesday night there were 200 of them in the same room at the West End Fire House, in Brodheads-ville, as the Monroe-Northampton Forest Fire Wardens held their annual banquet.

There was a room full of men dedicated toward protecting our dwindling forests from the annual ravishes of fire, an enemy that has attacked area woods since settlers first appeared in this region.

The veteran wardens can look back on years of hard work, long hours and success in their never-ending struggle against spring fires.

But, they aren't satisfied. They are as interested in mastering the new methods as are the younger members of the fire fighting set.

Conservation and fighting forest fires have become a way of life with these individuals. These are men who have given the best years of their lives to an ideal and to their communities.

They have taken part in a campaign that will probably never end. But, year by year they are winning the battle.

We still have forest fires, but not like those that raged over the area in past years.

With the dedication of these men and lessons of prevention, there may come a day when forest fires will become a topic of conversation, rather than a reality.

Congressional quiz

American Indians

By Congressional Quarterly
President Johnson March 6 sent Congress a message urging enactment of broad programs of "self-help, self-development and self-determination" to help alleviate the "shocking situation" of the American Indian. This quiz tests your knowledge of the proposed programs.

1. True or false: The President's March 6 message to Congress was the first devoted entirely to Indian affairs sent to Congress by any President.

2. In his message, President Johnson requested a fiscal 1969 appropriation for programs for American Indians which amounted to: (a) $100 million; (b) $500 million; (c) $800 million.

3. An executive order of the President has established a National Council on Indian Opportunity headed by the Vice President. Its members will consist of: (a) six Cabinet members, the Director of the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) and six Indian leaders; (b) six Indian leaders and six Members of Congress; (c) the Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), five Governors and three businessmen.

4. The President requested: (a) that the Head Start program be made available to 10,000 Indian preschoolers; (b) funds for Indian kindergartens; (c) funds to attract talented teachers to Indian schools; (d) all of the above.

ANSWERS: 1. True; 2. (b); 3. (a); 4. (d).

Indonesia reborn

JAKARTA — Indonesia — a nation of rich potential — is rejoining the world.

On whose side?

On the side of the free and independent nations of the world — and without equivocation.

This is why Indonesian foreign policy sounds almost like American foreign policy — our objectives are so nearly alike.

Here is the way Indonesia's able and outspoken foreign minister, Adam Malik, put it to me:

"Indonesia is pursuing an active, free, and independent course in its relations with both Asian and Western nations. We don't want neutrality. We reject it as impractical and negative. We are openly and vigorously anti-Communist. We value the friendship of the United States. We want to be friends with the Soviet Union. We would be willing to be friends with Peking if they would respect our national sovereignty."

The foreign policy of this country, which has now wrenched itself from the Communist yoke, is neither pro-American nor anti-American. It is pro-Indonesian. Its purpose is to serve the national interests of Indonesia — and it does.

What is significant is that United States and Indonesian interests are overwhelmingly parallel. The essential foreign policy goals of Indonesia are the central foreign policy goals of the United States: regional stability in all Southeast Asia, resistance to Communist "wars of liberation," and better relations with the Communist nations that want better relations.

Indonesia has too many problems of its own to project itself into Vietnam. It has no intention to do so. But it is obvious from a wide-ranging conversation that Malik views with consternation any prospect that the United States would fail to hold the line against Communist aggression in Vietnam.

Whatever the distant critics in the U.S. may think, Malik does not hesitate to say what the result would be. It would be the toppling of Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, Burma, and Malaysia into Communist hands. That would be the beginning.

Don MacLean

Tough to be average

WASHINGTON — Once upon a time the average American hesitated to speak out on great issues. He actually thought that his nation's leaders knew what they were doing and he doubted if his private thoughts on the bomb, the economy, etc., were worth passing along.

This has changed. Today, the average man blurts out his views on countless radio and television stations. I don't know whether this is because Mr. Citizen has realized that his nation's leaders do not know what they're doing or whether it's simply because there's been a proliferation of radio and television telephone-talk shows.

In any event, it has become terribly difficult for a newspaper reporter to pin down an average man and talk to him. Most of them are too busy.

Last Saturday I attempted to call my personal average American. I use him as a gauge of public opinion and over the years I've found his views extremely close to the norm. He is of average intelligence, which is to say, not too smart, and he makes an average living (after taxes, nothing).

All morning his line was busy. Finally, I walked over to his house. His wife was on the kitchen phone, but she let me in and motioned me through to where Joe was. As I passed, I heard her say, "Hello! I'm voting 'No' in your station's public opinion poll." She hung up and commenced dialing again.

My friend Joe was on the phone in the den. He seemed to be outlining his thinking on the gold crisis. I was surprised that my neighbors had two telephone lines in their house. Joe hung up, before reaching for the telephone again, he explained.

"Had to get two lines," he said. "You see, I call all the radio shows, that's my bit, and my wife needs another phone to vote

At first I was surprised to find no anti-American sentiment in a country whose people had so lately been laden with organized anti-American propaganda engineered by Sukarno in his last-gasp efforts to find a scapegoat for his follies.

It is evident that few Indonesians ever accepted as their own what they were told to think. Indonesians are not naturally anti-anybody. Ambassador Marshall Green, who was a principal target of the vicious anti-American rioting which Sukarno put on for months, told me that in all those rough times he never heard an ugly phrase or had an ugly gesture directed at him by anyone who was not put up to it.

Never took root
Sukarno's anti-Americanism never took root. Its effects have vanished like carbonated water in the breeze.

Nothing could be more encouraging than the active role which Indonesia is playing in the cause of regional cooperation throughout Southeast Asia. All of these Southeast Asian nations have an intense and proud sense of nationalism — and quite rightly. But there is no doubt that there is now taking tangible shape a new concept of regional solidarity in which independent non-Communist Asian nations are beginning to act in concert.

All kinds of instruments of regional coordination are coming into being — economic, political, cultural, educational.

Few Southeast Asian nations are yet ready to attempt a collective defense compact. That may come later but it can be said with knowledge — though it is rarely mentioned — that already Indonesian and Malaysian troops are operating in mixed forces to combat jointly Communist guerrilla operations on their borders.

Malik is a practical man and he knows that the great peril in Southeast Asia today is Communist insurgency aided from outside. He knows that the best way to defeat this insurgency is by creating a strong popular government and by improving the economic lot of the people.

This is what Indonesia, along with other Southeast Asian nations, is beginning to do.

in all the radio-television opinion polls. Boy! She voted 231 times yesterday. The question was: "Should Lindsay continue to collect Rockefeller's trash?"

I sat there fascinated. As soon as he got through to one station, he talk until cut off and then he'd tune the radio to another talk show and then call. While waiting, he talked to me.

"They don't let you give your name, but, even so, I'm one of the biggest personalities in local radio," he said. "Everybody knows my voice. My competition is Morl, across the street. He got on seven shows last night! Sorry I haven't time for you. But, as you can see, I'm not the average man any more. I'm an authority now!"

Last Laugh Department: When we start backing our money with jelly beans or something else we have a lot of, de Gaulle is going to be stuck with all that gold.

Experts say Bobby Kennedy and Eugene McCarthy may yet join hands. Heck, I wouldn't be surprised if they decided to skip and sing.

Vanessa Redgrave led that attack on the U.S. Embassy in London. We once had silent pictures; it's too bad we can't have silent actresses.

Not one candidate has told us what he would do about getting the Pueblo's crew back. You'd think they at least be interested in those 83 votes.

The government has a diabolically clever way to break up the planned "camp-in" here this spring. It's going to pass out jet applications.

Letters to the Editor

Support for local products

Editor, The Record

A few weeks ago I read several letters in the Pocono Record's "Letters to the Editor" column concerning our local chain stores eliminating our local dairies from their dairy cases.

But now to add insult to injury, so to say, a local businessman called "The People Speaks Program," featuring the Mayor of Stroudsburg, to find out when the streets would be cleaned for the summer residents that are soon due to invade the Poconos.

This was the straw that broke the camel's back, inspiring me to sit right down and let you know my thoughts on the absence of our dairy products in our chain stores.

Several weeks ago when marketing, I, too, noticed the absence of my favorite local dairy products in the dairy case. Now how do you think that this made me feel, being a neighbor to several local farmers in this area? I am a local resident that has been doing my shopping in the Stroudsburg area for 12 months out of the year, and nobody rolls out the red carpet for me. (Yet they are interested in doing it for the so-called summer residents.)

When it comes to milk, we local people don't have anything to say about the brand of dairy products we would like to see in the dairy case, and now the local businessman that called the Mayor on Friday, March 8, is only concerned with keeping the streets clean for three months out of the year—and just for our summer residents at that!

Does this businessman make enough in those three months to keep him in business the year round or do the local residents carry him the other nine months out of the year?

I think it high time that the people of the Stroudsburgs wake up and start taking the advice of the two housewives who wrote letters to your Pocono Record recently.

I am joining them, by not patronizing our local chain stores, and I intend to continue in this manner until I get some action from our local chain stores; whereby, they put our local dairy products back in the dairy case where they belong!

If local businessmen feel they can survive on this so-called summer business for three months out of the year, I can also survive for 12 months out of the year by doing my shopping out of town where I can buy what I want and not what they want me to buy.

If they don't need me, I surely don't need them!!!

Underwriting in air

NEW YORK — One of the chief raps against the completion of America's supersonic passenger plane, now being put together by Boeing, is that the Government is helping private industry build it.

There would, of course, be no Concorde, the upcoming French-English supersonic plane, without the aid of the governments of De Gaulle and Wilson. Just as there would be no Russian supersonic jet, a bit smaller and a trace faster than the Concorde, without the Kremlin's aid.

A good tough man named Jewell C. Maxwell, director of Supersonic Transport Development for the Federal Aviation Administration, had something to say about that and other things the other day during and after a luncheon at the Wings Club. He is a Princeton-trained Air Force Major General on leave to FAA.

"Federal assistance to transportation is as old as the Republic itself," he told the crowded ballroom at the Biltmore. "Government aid began with the National Pike in 1800 and (has) continued on throughout our history."

Aid to all transportation
"Government support to transportation has taken the form of financial aid in building roads, canals, and waterways, as well as land grants to the railroads. Good transportation benefits not only the passenger, but everyone in society. You need only to consider transportation programs supported by the government, such as the Panama Canal, St. Lawrence Seaway, the Merchant Marine, the Federal Airways and the Federal Highways."

It is going to cost somewhere between one billion and a billion and a half dollars to build the first two Boeing supersonic passenger planes. More, actually. As the general put it in his talk:

"That doesn't account for the facilities we will need, the interest on borrowed money that will have to be paid, or the relative value of the highly skilled people who are required in a program of the magnitude and complexity of the SST."

"Now what will we have when we have flown two prototype airplanes?" he asked his audience. And before anyone could speak he continued, "We will have a product that we hope is sufficiently developed that we can undertake an even more expensive decision — a decision whether to produce the airplane or not. That will require and even larger outlay of funds — two to two and a half billion, and we think that ought to come from the private sector.

"I think it is clear that the aviation industry is not unwilling to accept large risks. As a matter of fact, I have heard it said that it takes the courage of a river-boat gambler to make the kind of decisions that the head of a company has to make in the commercial airplane development business today."

But despite their willingness to undertake such risks they simply don't have the wherewithal to swing one of this size. Compare, if you will, the Boeing Company's current net worth of about $500 million with the financial outlays required for this program. I think the only way this program can proceed is with government support."

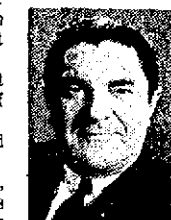

Economic boost
From the Government's standpoint, backing the SST is a better bet financially than, say, beautifying the highways or even sending a man to the moon. Holland, for example, raises prettier flowers than we do and can deliver them less expensively. When, in time, we deliver astronauts on the surface of the moon, we do not plan to sell Apollo capsules, Lunar Excursion Modules and Saturn V's to countries that want to harvest our superb know-how.

But we've been selling the world about 90 per cent of its airplanes since the time of the Brothers Wright. To chuck the SST at this stage of its development would be something like the St. Louis Cardinals deciding not to play baseball this year and rest on their laurels as "World Champions" because they'd lose the title anyway, come October. Come October, the Concorde will be flying.

"The U. S. Supersonic Transport — as the beads and wampum of international trade — has tremendous significance," Gen. Maxwell said.

"The sale of one SST abroad, for example, will offset the import of 8,000,000 fifths of scotch whisky. Another SST will offset 20,000 Volkswagens, or 10,000,000 Japanese transistor radios. It will also balance out one year's salary for 800 Sophia Loren's, or 8,000 Twiggies, or offset the visit of 23,000 U. S. tourists to the Continent for a month."

Any questions?

Lester Coleman, M.D.

Readers are asking

Does the Hippocratic oath demand that a doctor stop at an accident to treat an injured person?

When Hippocrates, the father of medicine, wrote the Hippocratic oath about 400 B. C. man was not destroying his fellow man with lethal weapons like automobiles. The mixture of gasoline and alcohol had not yet invaded their civilized society. Yet accidents, I am certain, occurred and demanded the skillful attention of all physicians then as now.

The Hippocratic Oath must not be confused with one's own personal morality. Laymen have always run to help those who are in need. Physicians have always run to those who are in distress. Yet I am sure there have been laymen and physicians who have not responded to the urgent needs of their fellow men.

This is an individual response related to a greater oath, the Oath of Humanity.

I am afraid that I must acknowledge that some physicians have refused to become involved in accidents because of a sad experience they may have had. It is a most unhappy occurrence when a doctor, motivated by his desire to offer sustenance, finds himself in a situation of being sued by the very people he had tried to help.

One such experience and the doctor may feel that he has too much at stake and that his own security may be threatened by those to whom he has shown kindness.

There is now a law in many states, called the Good Samaritan Law, which protects a physician and a layman from the injustice that can be done to him by legal prosecution as a "payment" for his kindness.

It is difficult to believe that there are no more exact protective laws that will permit the Doctor to follow us first instinct, to give succor to those in need.

Strangely, the victim himself is not given adequate protection because of this obvious injustice. The victim might be the recipient of help given freely and with wisdom if the giver were not threatened by the outdated concept of automatic involvement.

Markin time

I want some friends, who carry on,
With something fine about them.
Yet not so close that when they're gone
I will be sunk without them.

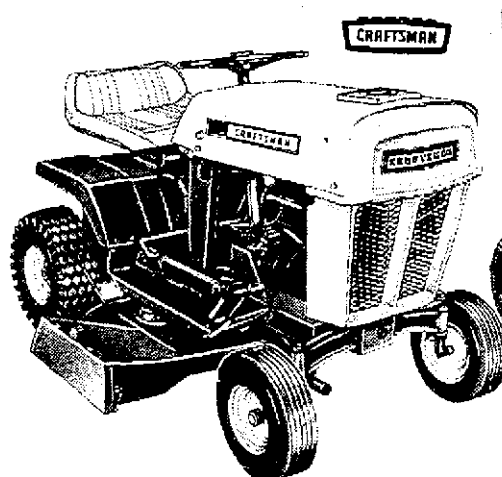

A fool can have a rugged front
And play a hard-bolled part,
And think because he's very blunt
He must be very smart.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

Perhaps airplanes weren't the only things diverted from their destination by the fog. Turning up among the sparrows at the feeder this week was a dickcissel, a midwestern bird whose range usually ends in western Ohio. Maybe he was diverted to Baltimore, too.

It's a very satisfactory bird to identify because of its yellow breast and black bib. From the back it looks very much like an English sparrow except it's slimmer, but from the front, wow! White stripe over its eyes, red bend in its wing. It looks like a tiny meadowlark.

It settled down comfortably with the juncos, cardinals and blue jays who've been here all winter, and didn't even flinch from the giant cowbirds and purple grackles and red-winged blackbirds who are more recent visitors.

All of whom kept me company at my early breakfast while I thought contentedly of my own birds.

'Music and Man' WSCS theme

STROUDSBURG — "Music and Modern Man" was the title of the program presented to the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church on Tuesday, March 19.

Using recordings to illustrate musical trends in various parts of the world today, Mrs. Merlin Rutt discussed the way in which music is a reflection of the values of a society and also pointed out the relationships between the church and some of the new forms of musical expression.

She was assisted by Mrs. James Toner, who spoke as Miss Singh, a representative of the Asian countries and Mrs. Floyd Abel, whose role was that of Mrs. Lusonga, a native of Africa.

Preceding the program, Mrs. Robert Dahmert led a period of meditation which was based on the Lord's Prayer. Assisted by Mrs. Barbara Lodge, she used music, candles and the words of the prayer to develop the devotional setting.

Following the business meeting, with Mrs. T. I. Metzgar presiding, refreshments were served by Mrs. Howard Morgan and Mrs. George Sebring, Sr., and their committee, from tables decorated in the St. Patrick's Day motif.

A feature of the Stroudsburg WSCS this year has been a prayer service which is conducted prior to each meeting. This service, under the direction of Mrs. William Dievier, has been enthusiastically received by the members of the Society. At the prayer service Mrs. William George sang the solo, "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

Promised Land club reorganized

PROMISED LAND — Reorganization of the Promised Land Ladies Community Club and planning for the annual Easter Egg Hunt highlighted the meeting of the unit at the home of Mrs. Frances Bartleson.

Mrs. Evelyn Haldaman was selected as the new president, succeeding Mrs. Bartleson, who moved to the vice president's chair. Chosen secretary was Mrs. Jean Price, while Mrs. Alleen Weiland will serve as treasurer.

The club will sponsor a community egg hunt for the youngsters of the area on April 12 at 1:30 p.m. at the Wilson Inn, Route 390, Promised Land. Rain (or blizzard) date will be April 13 at the same hour.

The egg hunt is an annual affair to which the children of the community look forward, and is one of the service projects which the group undertakes. Their fund-raising activities also support donations to St. Bernadette's Mission Church, the Promised Land Volunteer Fire Company, the Promised Land Protestant Community Church, and the Greene-Dreher Educational Fund.

At present the club is helping to underwrite some of the costs involved in the purchase of a new fire truck by the company.

The ladies are meeting weekly each Tuesday night at 8 at the Bartleson's to work on the Washington's Cherry Tree quilt which they will present to some lucky person at the Labor Day celebration in Promised Land.

Regular meetings, after the quilting is finished, will be held each second and fourth Tuesday night at 8.

A new member, Mrs. Russell Meixell of the Lehigh Valley area, a new resident of Promised Land, was welcomed. The members noted that new members are always welcome, whether or not they are residents of Promised Land.

Salvation Army work presented Altar, Rosary

EAST STROUDSBURG — Cap. Rex Worthy of the Salvation Army, speaking to members of St. Matthew's Altar and Rosary Society at their March meeting kindled some of his own dedication and enthusiasm for the work of the Salvation Army as he spoke of his experience.

He traced the history of the Army and his own preparation for service. The purpose of the Salvation Army, he said, is "to get people into their own working faith to find their relationship with God."

Worship is accompanied by deeds, he said. Reporting on the local scene, he said that the present caseload is about 500 persons with 26 different activities scheduled each week.

At the business meeting, Mrs. Joseph Kernaghan, president, announced the April 20 deaconry meeting at Marywood College.

Program chairman announced a "bridal gown revue" for the April meeting. The members selected the Fernwood, Bushkill, for their May dinner.

Mrs. Howard Gunn, dinner chairman, announced it will be held Wednesday, May 22, at 6:30.

Mrs. Arthur Henning spoke of the many volunteer services offered through Church Women United and asked members to support them. St. Matthew's is primarily responsible for towels.

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Sunshine Class of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will meet Tuesday night for a social and business meeting at the home of the president, Mrs. Carl Nauman, Analomink. A report will be given of the recent rummage sale and appreciation expressed to the many people who helped make it a success.

Mrs. Nauman will be assisted by Mrs. Harry Warrick, Mrs. William Dixon, Mrs. Maude Stem and Miss Mary Kistler.

Support for local products

Herman Luber, right, landscape architect, receives the thanks of Milford Garden Club president, Mrs. Carl Fechter and Mrs. Ray Neuman for showing slides of patios and gardens at their March meeting. Luber is director of the Plants and Design Center, East Stroudsburg.

Four-state conference of Soroptimists here

STROUDSBURG — The Soroptimist Club of Stroudsburg is ready to play its role as hostess to the Spring Conference of Soroptimists of the Mid-Atlantic States, to be held March 29 through 31 at Pocono Manor. Clubs from New York, New Jersey, Maryland and Pennsylvania will be represented.

At the business meeting, held at the home of the president, Betty Martin, members worked on decorations for the conference, which will open with registration and a fun time on Friday night.

Sally Ferrebee, with Robert

Carrier as accompanist, will provide the entertainment.

State President Ethel Lord will be the keynote speaker on Saturday. The Venture Club Council of the Americas will participate in the fellowship luncheon program. Louise Heatherington will introduce the recipients of the regional fellowships for the 1966-68 biennium.

Dr. Alma De Morani, noted plastic surgeon and recipient of the Soroptimist's first fellowship, will be the guest speaker. The banquet and entertainment is planned for Saturday night when the new officers for the 1968-1970 biennium will be presented.

On Sunday there will be a necrology service, a governor's report, followed by a luncheon.

The local club committees handling the convention include Mrs. Marguerite Clarkson, conference chairman; Mrs. Florence Clark and Miss Anna Stem, co-chairmen; Mrs. Jean Barthold, treasurer; Miss Betty Martin, hostess club president; Miss Joyce Gunn, registration chairman.

Because of convention activities, the regular dinner meeting of the local club will not be held tonight.

Study of Medicare at Medical Auxiliary

EAST STROUDSBURG — The relationship between Blue Cross and Blue Shield and Medicare was explained to the members of the Women's Auxiliary to the Monroe County Medical Society and their guests, wives of members of the Dental Society and the Bar Assn.

The meeting was held in the conference room in the General Hospital of Monroe County where Mrs. Morton Spinner welcomed the guests. Mrs. Horace G. Butler, program chairman, introduced the speakers.

James A. Bell, enrollment representative for Blue Cross and Blue Shield, showed a film of their activities. In northeastern Pennsylvania they provide more coverage and more service benefits than all other state and federal plans in schools, business and industries, he said.

Organized in 1938 with 13 counties and 38 hospitals included in the Northeast district, they now pay $15½ million for membership care and a similar amount for Medicare.

Thomas W. Jones, public relations representative of Blue Cross and Blue Shield, described the connection with Medicare which works in cooperation with them. Blue Shield and Blue Cross also cover services not included in Medicare, he said.

Of the 7,000 hospitals in the United States, 91 per cent have accepted the plans of Blue Cross and Blue Shield, he said, which are reimbursed by the government for bills submitted under five plans. The costs differ according to hospitals and their location, he said.

Board members are volunteers and are not reimbursed in the non-profit organization, he explained.

A question and answer period followed with discussions of student program, major medical in industries; and the Allied Service for the Handicapped in Scranton, which provides financial help for handicapped patients over 19 years of age when they are not able to pay for it themselves.

Refreshments were served at the meeting. Guests from the Dental Auxiliary included Mrs. Robert J. Arner, Mrs. Francis Donatelli and Mrs. W. Edmund Magann; from the Bar Assn., Mrs. James Kitson, Mrs. Elmer D. Christine, Mrs. Edward DePaul, Mrs. George Robinson, Mrs. Joseph McCluskey and Mrs. John J. Pentz.

Mrs. Charles A. Park represented the Visiting Nurses' Assn. and Mrs. Edward Boushell, Laurel Manor.

Members of the Medical Auxiliary present were Mrs. M. H. Spinner, Mrs. Horace B. Butler, Mrs. T. I. Metzgar, Mrs. John Marucci, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield, Mrs. William Simons, and Mrs. C. B. Rosenkrans.

Laurel Manor Home Assn. annual meeting

STROUDSBURG — The Monroe County Home Association, which operates Laurel Manor, non-profit home for senior citizens at 1170 West Main St., Stroudsburg, will hold its annual meeting in the Treaty Room at the Penn-Stroud Hotel on Monday afternoon at 4 p.m.

All members of the association, as well as representatives of interested organizations, are invited to attend.

ROSEMONT — Rev. and Mrs. Louis C. Johnson of Rosemont, formerly of East Stroudsburg, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Patricia Loo Johnson, to Sgt. William D. Braggins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Durker Braggins of Erie, on March 23.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Reeves C. Havens Jr. of Lancaster, assisted by the bride's father, Rev. Johnson, in the Prayer Chapel of St. Luke's Methodist Church of Bryn Mawr. Just the immediate families were present.

Wheelchair comes home to roost

MOUNT POCONO — The hospital equipment which the Mount Pocono Memorial Unit 903, American Legion Aux. maintains as a public service finally came into good use for one of its own members.

Mrs. Harry Taylor, who was host to the auxiliary at its March meeting, was in an auxiliary wheelchair because of a broken leg. Almost all the hospital is in use, it was reported. The unit is considering a project to raise money for the purchase of new mattresses for their hospital beds.

Poppies have been ordered and the Poppy Day Sale in May will be directed by Mrs. Patrick Horgan.

A foreign relations meeting is planned in April to be held at the Taylor home. Beginning at this time, meetings will be held the third Tuesday of the month.

If you like yogurt, you may enjoy serving it with fish. To make the yogurt into an appropriate "sauce," add finely chopped cucumber and salt. Garnish with a sprinkling of paprika.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length white gown made in a princess style. Her veil was shoulder length, attached to a crown of pearls. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias.

The sister of the bride, Miss Marilyn Johnson, who had planned to be the maid of honor, was detained by the snow storm in Kentucky and was unable to attend. In her stead, the sister of the bridegroom, Miss Barbara Braggins, was the maid of honor.

Miss Lisa Bryant was the bridesmaid. Both girls wore floor-length gowns of yellow, also on the princess lines, with short veils fastened with a single rose. They carried sprays of red roses.

The best man was William Fowler of Erie. The bride's little brother, Glenn Johnson, was the ring bearer.

The reception was held in the social room of the church.

Fellowship supper at Portland

PORTLAND — A fellowship supper for 35 members and friends of the Portland Methodist Church was held on Saturday night. Rev. David McLaughlin, pastor, gave the invocation.

Edgar Rice, Sunday school superintendent, was master of ceremonies for the program which followed the supper. Mrs. Harry Bellis recited a poem, "Edward and Alice." Members of the choir, accompanied by Mrs. John Ribble, and of the Junior Choir, accompanied by Mrs. Barrett Transue sang several numbers.

St. Patrick's Day songs were sung by the group with Mrs. Margert Ettinger as accompanist.

Local MARC delegates to state board

HARRISBURG — Representing the Monroe County Assn. for Retarded Children, Mrs. Mary D. Gearhart, delegate, and Mrs. Walter Strunk, alternate, attended the state board meeting held at the Governor's Hotel, Harrisburg.

Plans were made for the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Assn. for Retarded Children to be held at the Marriott Hotel, Philadelphia, June 6, 7 and 8.

Theme for the convention will be "The Retarded: Their Place in the Community". It will bring into focus the thrust being made on behalf of mentally retarded citizens in the state. Program and registration pamphlets are available for anyone who wishes to attend.

The next meeting of the Monroe association will be held Tuesday, April 9 at the Stroudsburg YMCA at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Pocono Aux. plans April dinner dance

TANNERSVILLE — The buffet dinner for members of the Pocono Twp. Volunteer Fire Co. and the auxiliary was postponed from April 13 to April 27, it was decided at the auxiliary meeting. It will be held at Camelback with dinner at 6:30 and the dance at 9 p.m. Letters and tickets will soon be sent to members.

Announcement was made of a first aid course to be given starting Sept. 12, at the Tannersville firehouse open to all interested members.

Blanche Strunk was reported on the sick list. There are now 24 members in the auxiliary.

Present were Anna Mae Deiter, Harriet Smith, Marie Harps, Jeanne Howell, Vera Walters, Ruth Howell, Lizzie Butz and Cecil London.

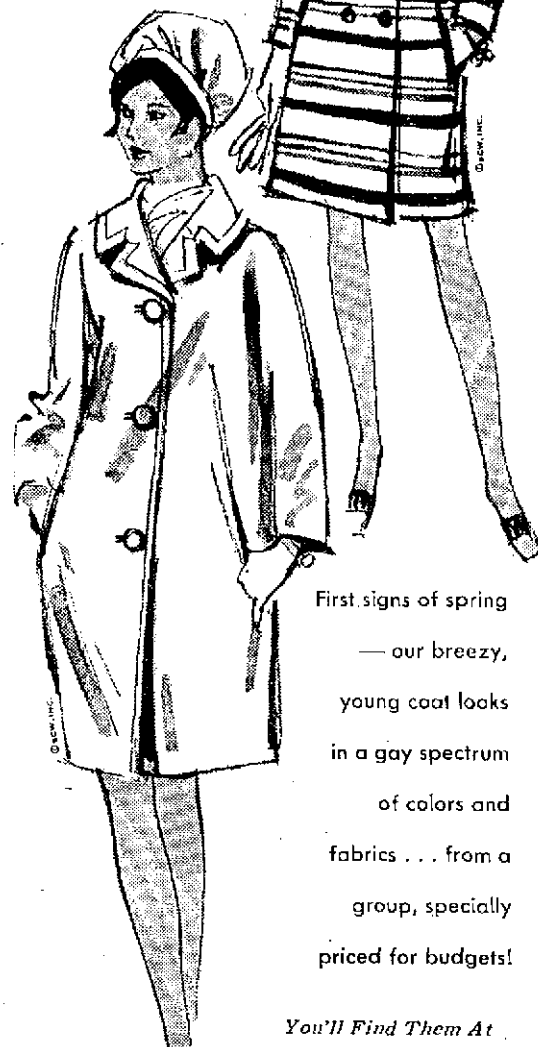

ES Neighborhood Girl Scouts to consider service

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg Neighborhood Girl Scout Adults will meet here at the Methodist Church on Monday, at 8 p.m.

All delegates and alternates to the Scranton-Pocono Assembly must be present at this meeting to discuss issues.

Miss Wealthy Kortz will be the guest speaker and will offer a service project that the Girl Scouts might use in cooperation with Avon Courts.

JACK O'BRIAN'S

Voice of Broadway

NEW YORK — Lynda Bird Johnson Robb now wants her pals to drop the "Bird" . . . Must say Barbara Howard (Lynda's erstwhile White House climber-in-waiting) certainly gave her The Bird in the Ladies Home Journal Howar-grapes . . . You wonder why a gal like La Howard exposes herself to the surgical integrity of television cameras and interviews (such as the enlightening depth-balm in Women's Wear Daily) which managed to reflect her in exact reverse to the political harm she candidly announced she plans for the Johnsons.

There's a certain point of open abuse which brings only sympathy to the victim and exposes the abuser in all her performing vulgarity . . . If La Howard keeps it up, LBJ will win in a walk.

Railroad buffs will track down a real highballing express at the new Iron Horse Restaurant opening April 1 in Penn Station. Loaded with R. R. Memorabilia . . . Wonder if the long-narrow restaurant daddled out like a posh dining car in the Hotel Roosevelt still runs on cocktails; haven't been by it lately.

Mark Fleishman owns a new spot called "A Quiet Little Table In The Corner" and there Mark sat at a quiet little ditto with Barbara Nichols. . . (Barbara Nichols? That the actress who plays debutante roles?) . . . (No — not deb parts bed parts).

Sorry, Albert Finney leaves "Joe Egg" (which he produced) on April 14, for his performance was the finest of the Broadway season, in a powerful, fine-bitter comedy; but he's being replaced by another very special young actor Donal Donnelly who takes over April 15; Donal was one of the stars of "Philadelphia Here I Come" which lit up our Broadway sky so richly two seasons ago. He's Irish and he's grand.

"Thoroughly Modern Millie" has played only 307 theatres in the United States but its gross therein already is $20,638,690 . . . The Metropolitan Insurance Co. would have lost money had it taken out a policy on its own life: it's 100 years old this month . . . Former stage manager of England's National Theatre, Charles Ford, joined the staff at the Jolly Sixpence, a bit of Blighly here where London's lonely actors hang out.

Taxicab muggers try to analyze if a driver is a moon-lighting cop (many are) but one won't fool anyone: his hippie-hair's down to his shoulders . . . Still, that could be a disguise . . . Sorry, thieves.

Life mag's profiling "The Night and Day Sinatra": mama Mia! . . . Writer Willi Frischauer said he was offered $50,000 not to write the Aristotle Onassis biography, which he turned down, and then sold it to the Ladies Home Journal; plus serial rights and advances from London and United States publishers, the $50,000 and Willi's integrity already are safe.

Dick Cavett's morning ABC-TV show contains a lot of quietly devastating comedy, all of it Dick's . . . He has that early-Paar capacity for saying subtly savage things in the sweetest-seeming fashion.

Censors are helpless apparently — 42nd St. novelty shops are flooded with huge posters of nude males. Revealing opinion: on David Susskind's hour of cheapness, Gore Vidal stated flatly homosexuality is a fine way to combat the population explosion . . . We caught this one, which struck us as the highest camp of all.

Davy Jones of the Monkees went ape over British singer Lulu.

Two attend Education pays conference More schooling — higher income from area

SWIFTWATER — Mrs. Florence Miller and Mrs. Bernice Pollan, guidance counselors at Pocono Mountain High School were among the 600 counselors attending the 12th conference of the Pennsylvania School Counselors Assn. recently.

The theme of the conference was "Investigating Tomorrow Today" and the keynote speaker was Bob Richards, former Olympic star who has motivated young people through his writing and speeches.

A portion of the program consisted of nine Curbside Discussion Groups on current guidance related topics, exhibits of materials available for counselors use, and the business meeting of the state counselors.

In addition to Richards, Dr. John O. Hershey, superintendent of the Milton Hershey Schools, Perrin C. Hamilton, member of the Governor's Cabinet; Dr. Eldon Ruff, president of American School Counselors Assn., Dr. Mitchell Dreese, emeritus professor from Shippensburg, were general sessions speakers.

STROUDSBURG — From the standpoint of lifetime earning capacity, the average male resident of Monroe County is worth more than he ever was.

Because of the changes in recent years in wage scales, education, employment and economic values in general, the average young man in the local area who is just setting out to earn a living can look forward to a lifetime income of no less than $281,000.

The figure, which assumes a continuation of present conditions, is based upon the latest studies by the Department of Commerce and other agencies.

Earning power
Taken into account, in estimating the earning power of the average young man locally, during the 40 to 45 years of his working career, were the amount of education he has received and the prevailing level of income in the area, as compared with incomes elsewhere in the United States.

As to educational attainment, the latest official figures show that some 22.3 percent of Monroe County's male population, age 25 or older, are elementary school graduates, that another 23.2 percent have completed four years of high school and that 8.0 percent are college graduates.

That is more schooling than is acquired in many parts of the country.

Solely from a dollars and cents consideration, the studies indicate that education pays off handsomely. The investment of time, effort and money that is required to obtain additional schooling yields high dividends.

According to the latest survey of earning power, compiled by the Institute of Life Insurance from government data, the average high school graduate earns about $24,000 more than a person with only an elementary school diploma. By the same token, the college graduate will end up with about $141,000 more than the high school graduate.

In Monroe County, the earning prospects are good because the level of education is relatively high and is getting higher.

Locally, the median years of schooling for male residents has now reached approximately 11.5.

In the State of Pennsylvania as a whole, by way of comparison, the median is 11.3 years.

Harris Survey

Tet offensive meets with mixed reception among people

By LOUIS HARRIS
There is no doubt that the American people's confidence in a military solution to the war in Vietnam has been somewhat shaken by the recent Tet offensive. Yet it is important that this current mood of the public be sorted out for precisely what it does and does not represent.
Here is what it does not mean:
—A majority does not want to abandon the war. To be sure, the 17 percent who want an immediate United States troop withdrawal represent the high point for this view in the past 12 months. But it is well below the 36 percent who felt that way back in 1965.

—A majority does not want to end the bombings of North Vietnam, for over six in 10 still feel that the bombings help deter the Communist war effort in South Vietnam.
—President Johnson may be in trouble politically, but at this juncture Vietnam by itself does not account for his difficulties. Lack of overall confidence in his personal conduct of office is the root of Mr. Johnson's problem.

On the war itself, by 38 to 29 percent, Democrats feel that the President is more right on Vietnam than his most prominent critic, New York Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. By exactly the same margin, the public as a whole believes the President can handle Vietnam better than New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. And former Vice President Richard Nixon does no better than a standoff with President Johnson on what to do in Vietnam.

Current shifts
Yet the current shifts in the public temper clearly do mean these things:
—The day of public acceptance of the Goldwater thesis that "when in war, the military men should take over" seems about to end. The basic lesson from the Tet offensive is that military leaders can be as fallible as political leaders in a war situation.

Support for the war itself obviously is closely tied to how the war is going. And while the American people have had remarkable patience in what they freely describe as one of the "saddest and most unhappy" chapters in our military history, clearly the public wants some reasonable assurance that the prosecution of the conflict is making some progress. The principle of resisting aggression is deeply ingrained among the people, but so is the idea that American might would be able to resist aggression successfully.

It is significant that in the latest Harris Survey the number who feel that the war is bogged down has risen from 50 percent in February to 78 percent today. Fully 48 percent now affirm that the fighting is going worse for our side.

Some sick payments not taxable

STROUDSBURG — Some payments received by taxpayers on account of illness or personal injury are not taxable income, the Internal Revenue said Wednesday.

Subject to certain limitations, the law allows a taxpayer to exclude from his income amounts received under a wage continuation plan financed by his employer when he is absent from his work due to injury or sickness. The taxpayer must attach a statement to his return showing the computation of the amount excluded, the dates of absence, and whether or not he was hospitalized. Form 2440 may be used for this purpose.

To determine the amount of the sick pay exclusion, first determine whether "sick pay" was over 75 percent of the regular weekly rate of pay. If over 75 percent is received there is a 30-calendar day waiting period. Thereafter the amount to be excluded is limited to a rate not to exceed $100 a week or the weekly pay whichever is the lesser.

If 75 percent or less of the regular weekly pay is received, the waiting period is seven calendar days unless there is at least one day's hospitalization during the period of absence. If so, then there is no waiting period. During the first 30 calendar days the exclusion may not exceed $75 or the weekly pay whichever is lower. After the 30 days, the exclusion may not exceed a weekly rate of $100.

Amounts received as a disability pension will qualify for the sick pay exclusion if: the taxpayer becomes permanently disabled due to sickness or injury before he reaches retirement age; and all, or part of the cost of the pension was contributed by his employer.

McCarthy speaks in Wisconsin

STEVENS POINT, Wis. (AP) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy moved into traditionally Republican central Wisconsin Tuesday in a frank bid for Republican votes to swell his total in next Tuesday's primary contest with President Johnson.

The state's voters may cast either ballot in the open primary, and with Richard M. Nixon coasting on a long lead in the Republican race, a heavy crossover to the Democratic ballot has been predicted, although GOP leaders are trying to head it off.

Class of 39 completes area first aid course

STROUDSBURG — A standard first aid course was completed recently by 39 members of the Stroud Twp. Volunteer Fire Department.

E.S. band on tour today

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg Junior High School Band — 103 members — will present two concerts and a band clinic today at Lewisburg Junior High School and Susquehanna University, according to bandmaster Robert F. Zellner.

Three buses will take the band members to Lewisburg where a concert will be presented to the student body at 10 a.m. After lunch at the school cafeteria, the band will continue on to Selinsgrove, where they will tour the expanding campus of Susquehanna University at 1 p.m.

At 3 p.m., Zellner said, the band will present a short concert to the music majors of S. U. in the new Chapel building, followed by a clinic demonstrating instrumental and band techniques.

The students will return to East Stroudsburg following dinner at the University Dining Hall.

Man held on arson in E-burg

EAST STROUDSBURG — Ralph Booth of 24 Washington St., East Stroudsburg, was ordered bound over for court action by East Stroudsburg Justice of the Peace Harold Larson on an arson charge.

Booth was returned to Monroe County jail to await Grand Jury action.

He is charged by Pennsylvania State Police Fire Marshall Stanley Komosinski.

Booth is charged with setting the Silverman apartment building on fire last November.

Hearing set on Rt. 209

STROUDSBURG — A public hearing on the 27-mile relocation of Route 209 between Echo Lake and Milford will definitely be held, a State Highway Department official said Wednesday.

An official of the State Highway Department's District Four office in Scranton said that the hearing will be held sometime after April 22. The exact date of the hearing will be determined by the legal department.

Earlier, a Highway Department spokesman said that the hearing will probably be held in the Dingmans Ferry Fire Hall.

The Delaware and Dingman Townships Boards of Supervisors specifically requested that a hearing be conducted.

Man injured in accident

BRODHEADSVILLE — A 63-year-old Northampton man is in the General Hospital of Monroe County following a one-car accident Wednesday at 12:45 a.m.

The hospital had no condition report nor a list of injuries.

According to State Police at Fern Ridge, Smith was traveling north on Rt. 115, about seven miles from Brodheadsville, when his car rounded a curve, crossed the highway, struck some large rocks, and flipped over on its side.

Smith was taken to the hospital with facial cuts, it was learned from a source outside the hospital.

Police estimate damage at $400.

Police hold car suspect

STROUDSBURG — Ralph Thomas Wren, 32, of Wilkes-Barre was committed to Monroe County Jail Wednesday night on a charge of larceny of a motor vehicle.

Wren was taken before Mount Pocono Justice of the Peace Mrs. Emma Merwin and committed to jail.

Wren is charged with taking the car in Wilkes-Barre Wednesday. He was apprehended by State Police from Mount Pocono in Secorin at 5:10 p.m.

Local fire chiefs endorse laws aiding volunteers

STROUDSBURG — Fire chiefs of Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Stroud Township have given their "unqualified endorsement" to two amended laws regarding their departments, all three announced jointly Wednesday.

Act 176, amending an earlier law passed on June 24, 1939, states, "Whoever intentionally hinders or prevents or attempts to hinder or prevent any fireman from performing his official duties is guilty of a misdemeanor and if convicted, shall be fined up to $500 or undergo imprisonment for not more than five years."

Chief William Schroeder of

Stroudsburg said, "While we have had no trouble that I recall, this new law assures us that we can continue to fight fires without interference from the public."

"We treat every home just like it is our own," Schroeder said, "whether it be a mansion or a simple dwelling. We do as little damage as possible. I can certainly understand how an excited homeowner might think that firemen are damaging his home, but our men have been trained to fight a fire as efficiently and as quickly as possible while exercising care to the building and its contents. I heartily endorse both of these laws," the chief said.

Act 165 exempts certain firemen, police officers, volunteer ambulance drivers and rescue squad personnel from civil liability when rendering emergency care, first aid, rescue and transportation in the performance of their duties.

This and similar laws in other states have been called "Good Samaritan" laws.

At scene The name has arisen after numerous instances of physicians being sued by individuals after receiving emergency care at the scene of an accident.

Chief Lester Rice, Stroud Township, said that 38 volunteers from his department and the Stroudsburg fire companies completed first aid courses this past year and now carry cards which would exempt them from such civil suits.

"I am pleased that these new laws are now on the books," Rice said, "as these volunteers who give so much of their time and energy should certainly be protected against civil liability."

East Stroudsburg fire chief Robert Lesoine also lauded the new laws.

"We still have trouble with another law, perhaps unknown by the public, even if that is no excuse," Lesoine said.

"That is the law which states that no car may follow a fire engine closer than 500 feet. Also, many motorists still fail to yield the right of way when approached by a piece of fire equipment."

"I am also very happy to see the men protected from any civil suit, although we have had no trouble along these lines as yet," Lesoine said.

"We had one instance of a man interfering with our men at a fire, but too many eager fire-buffs get in our way on the way to the fire," the chief stated, "and some day, a bad accident might happen because of that."

Both acts were signed into law by Gov. Shafer on Oct. 9, 1967 and are now in effect.

Firemen kept busy

STROUDSBURG — Fire alarms in Monroe County sounded six times Wednesday and three were for the Blue Ridge Hook and Ladder Co. in Saylorsburg.

The first Saylorsburg alarm sounded at 2:15 p.m. when a field caught fire at the Christ Lutheran Church parsonage in Hamilton Square.

At 5:15 p.m., Blue Ridge was called to another field fire in Saylorsburg and again at 5:30 p.m. for another field fire. This one was along the highway between Ross Common and Saylorsburg.

Pocono Township firemen were called to the property of James Price at 5 p.m. to extinguish a grass fire.

In Cresco, Barrett Twp. firemen were called to Pocono Mountain Inn at 4:20 p.m. for another grass fire.

The fire burned more than six acres before it was contained.

Fire officials of the companies contacted said most of the fires were caused by people burning trash out in the open or in a container without a cover.

Stroud Township volunteer firemen quickly extinguished a grass fire on Chipperfield Drive at 5:10 p.m. on property owned by Richard Hammond.

Chief Lester Rice said that a rubbish fire started by Paul Mannix spread to his neighbor's land where two acres of grass was destroyed.

Four trucks and 60 men answered the alarm, assisted by nine Junior Firemen, ages 14 to 18, who carried Indian tanks to fight the flames. About 100 gallons of water was used, Rice said. The firemen returned to their base at 5:35 p.m.

No health violations in Eastburg

EAST STROUDSBURG — A total 10 eating and drinking establishments were checked during March by H. D. Larson Jr., assistant health officer, the Board of Health was told Wednesday night.

Larson, in making his regular report to the board, said that no health violations were found in the establishments. He added, however, that the proprietor of a tavern was instructed to keep a dog off the premises. The dog apparently was kept in the kitchen.

Four homes on Day Street will also be checked to determine whether housing code violations had been complied with. Larson was authorized to post the premises as "unfit for human habitation" if the conditions have not been corrected.

Four unsanitary condition complaints were also investigated and five dead animals were removed from the borough.

S-burg's manager to receive honor

By JACK LEVY

STROUDSBURG — Harold E. Snyder, Stroudsburg's first borough manager, will be honored at a meeting of the Mid-Eastern Counties and Borough Association at the Tatamy Fire House tonight after serving on the board of directors of the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs for the past 14 years.

Snyder has served as representative of the MECAB on the state board and is vice president of the regional association.

A native of Stroudsburg and a graduate of Stroudsburg High School in 1921, Snyder graduated from the Wharton School of Commerce and Finance at the University of Pennsylvania and has been a "keeper of the books ever since."

"After I graduated from high school," the veteran municipal officer said Wednesday, "I decided to take a post-graduate course in commercial subjects and that's when I really became interested in figures."

"And that's when I learned to type, too, and it has come in handy ever since," Snyder said.

After graduation, in 1926, Snyder went to work for the Citizens Gas Company, part of a large utility and holding company with offices throughout Pennsylvania and New Jersey. In 1939, he was named borough secretary by the council under the administration of the late Burgess Hal Harris.

When Stroudsburg decided to adopt the manager form of government in 1957, Snyder was named manager by the council upon the recommendation of the late President Edward R. Lawson on March 1. Edward Doran was Burgess at the time.

"My duties changed very little. I had been doing all the clerical work of the borough and was responsible, as I am now, for the administration of the policies set forth by the council," Snyder said.

The manager, who also serves as secretary of the Stroudsburg Municipal Authority, has resigned from the PSAB because "there just isn't enough time to do everything."

"For many years," he recalled, "I was home for only

Harold Snyder... to be honored one or two nights a week, and I have plenty of work to do here. Besides, I have spent about 14 years in the state organization so I feel I have done my share," Snyder said.

His only other outside interest is the Lions Club, where he has a 15-year perfect attendance record.

"Since my daughter, Mrs. Emily Kranendonk, has moved to California, I'd like to spend some nights at home with my wife," he said. Snyder is married to the former Virginia Hannas of East Stroudsburg. His daughter, Emily, is married to Robert L. Kranendonk, a former vocalist with Fred Waring and now Waring's representative on the West Coast, residing in La Crescenta, Calif.

Snyder, who will be 65 this year, said he has no plans for retiring as borough manager.

"I have enjoyed my job immensely and as long as my health is good, I intend to remain on as manager."

"Of course, that is up to the council," he said with a chuckle, "they have the right to fire me anytime."

"When I do decide to leave, I intend to give them a year's notice, as it will take quite a while to break in a new man," Snyder added.

"Stroudsburg has come a long way since I started in 1939. They had just completed a modern sewer plant and new parking meters were put in."

"Then, in 1954, the sewer plant was enlarged and the flood of 1955 caused another complete overhauling," Snyder related.

"The creation of our off-the-street parking lots was another big step forward," the manager said, "but there are plenty of challenges ahead for borough officials."

"The adoption of the planning and zoning ordinances and the building, housing, and electrical codes will demand considerable attention, and these came a little late, to say the least," Snyder said.

"As for the urban renewal project — I may not be around when that comes to town," he grinned.

"But as for my retirement, let's just wait and see. One good thing — I paid my last premium to the retirement fund this month, so that's out of the way. But there's still plenty to be done, and I hope to remain a part of it, where the action is, until further notice," he said.

Rooney backing Johnson

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Congressman Fred B. Rooney (D-Bethlehem) announced his unqualified support of President Lyndon Johnson, Wednesday, in a speech on the floor of the House of Representatives.

"The time has come when I must speak out to add my voice, my support and my commitment for the re-election of Lyndon B. Johnson as President of the United States," Rooney told his colleagues.

During the years of the Johnson administration, Rooney related, "our nation has prospered and progressed despite some of the most severe tests and most serious challenges our nation and the free world ever have encountered."

Alerting the House to "hostile forces at work in many parts of the world," Rooney said the best hope for overcoming these obstacles was by "retaining our president the determined and able leader Lyndon Johnson has proven himself to be."

Rather than avoiding new challenges, "The president has stood his ground and strived intelligently to open new doors — doors of opportunity, understanding, and cooperation among the people of our own nation and the people of the world. His key is hard work — not some magic formula," Rooney said.

Television star headlines show for Israeli bond drive

STROUDSBURG — A combined magician, actor and television performer will entertain during a "Salute to Israel" today at 8 p.m. in Temple Israel.

The program is part of the Stroudsburg Israel bond drive, Louis Sommers, drive chairman, announced.

Entertainment will be provided by Jack Malon, who started his career with Blackstone, the world-famous magician.

Malon has appeared on such television shows as "The Milton Berle Show," "The Jack Paar Show," "Suspense," "Studio One," and "The Defenders."

He gained his acting experience as a member of the Henry Street Players.

Sommers said, "The State of Israel bond issue is the central source of investment capital for Israel's program of economic development."

"Proceeds from the sale of Israel bonds are making it possible to build more homes, expand industry and agriculture, improve irrigation, build roads, harbors and railways and increase electric power."

Stroud Twp. volunteers elect officers

STROUDSBURG — Stroud Twp. Volunteer Fire Dept. recently elected new officers. Among them was Ronald LaBar as president and Lester Rice the chief.

Others elected were William Crooks, vice president; Donald Timney, secretary; and Loren Fabel, treasurer.

Elected as directors were Wayne Metzgar, Carl Andrew, LeRoy Hagerty, Milton Miller, Harold Lee, and Gary Agins.

George Miller, William Pfeiffer, and Jess Muffley were elected as assistant chiefs. Tom Barr, Emil Von Brock, and Robert Bentzon were elected captains in the department.

Elected as lieutenants were Harold Nauman, Frank Bentzon, and Gary Reish.

The chief engineer is Frank Oyer and his assistants are Harold Albert, Paul Lewis, George Sox, Herschel Scott, Dennis Rinaldi, and Jess Muffley. Robert Layton was named consultant engineer.

Wolbers wins zone title

ALLENTOWN — George Wolbers won the Zone Six championship Wednesday night in Allentown where the Optimist Club held its oratorical zone contest.

He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Wolbers and a student in East Stroudsburg High School.

Wolbers won on the local level Tuesday night in Stroudsburg.

Braves' Carty may have TB

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Atlanta slugger Rico Carty was to be taken to the Southeast Florida Tuberculosis Hospital Wednesday night for extensive examinations to determine if he has tuberculosis. The Braves said Wednesday morning that the left fielder apparently had tuberculosis, but later in the day Trainer Harvey Stone said Carty's illness may be pneumonia.

"There are some indications that it is TB," Stone said. "But it definitely is not proven. We may not know for another three days."

Stone said he planned to take Carty to the tuberculosis hospital at nearby Latana where additional tests were planned.

Other Atlanta players and team officials were being tested to determine if they had contracted the disease.

"If he's really got it, he's certain to be out for the year," said Paul Richards, vice president of the Braves.

Preliminary medical reports disclosed at a news conference indicated that Carty had tuberculosis, the same disease that once sidelined Braves' infielder Red Schoendienst, now manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Schoendienst found he had TB at the end of the 1958 season. He had a portion of his right lung removed in February of 1959, and returned to the field in 1960. He ended his playing career in 1963.

Carty was having a fine exhibition season at the plate, batting .316, but was given a medical examination after he lost six pounds in camp. He recently had complained of "being weak and just not feeling right."

Carty, 27, has a .305 batting average in three years in the big leagues, although his average skidded to .255 in 1967, when he was bothered by a shoulder injury.

Sunday in Arizona.

That was reported by Dodger general manager B. J. "Buzzie" Bavasi after a telephone conversation with Colavito.

The 34-year-old slugger was purchased by Los Angeles Tuesday from the Chicago White Sox for a reported $25,000.

Colavito, who has seen service with four American League clubs, told Bob Hunter of the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner the transaction had upset his plans but he thought he would be able to readjust.

Los Angeles plans to use Rocky as a pinch hitter and spot player. In purchasing him, the National League club also assumed his salary for 1968, reportedly in the $65,000 bracket.

Colavito's 366 home runs place him fifth among active American Leaguers but he hit only .231 last season, his career low.

Cage star turns down Olympic bid

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Basketball star Bob Kauffman of Guilford College said today he will not participate in the NAIA tryouts for the U.S. Olympic team this week at Adams State College in Colorado.

Kauffman, an Associated Press Little All-America first team selection, was named Sunday by the NAIA as its top choice for the tryouts.

The 6-8 senior center from Scarsdale, N.Y., said he had to decline the invitation because he was getting behind in his studies and wants to play professional basketball.

Kauffman represented the NAIA in the Pan-American Games last year.

Kauffman, who is white, thus joins Lew Alcindor of UCLA, Elvin Hayes of Houston, Westley Unseld of Louisville and Henry Logan of Western Carolina, Negro All-America players who declined invitations.

Six-figure contract

Hayes signs to play for San Diego

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Elvin Hayes, college basketball's player-of-the-year, signed a six-figure contract Wednesday to play for the San Diego Rockets of the National Basketball Association.

The signing of Hayes, University of Houston's "Big E," was announced at a news conference by Robert Breitbard, Rockets' owner. Terms of the contract were not announced, except that it is a "multiple-year" pact.

However, it is believed the 6-foot 9½ All-American from Rayville, La., received in excess of $110,000 for each of the next four years.

Earlier he had put his price at $300,000. The Houston Mavericks of the American Basketball Association also sought Hayes and offered him $500,000 for a multiple-year pact.

Hayes told newsmen he picked the Rockets over the ABA Mavericks because "I want to play against the greatest ball players and they are in the NBA."

On Monday, the 22-year-old Houston star announced he would join the professional ranks and would not try out for the United States Olympic team.

Breitbard, whose team finished last in its first season of NBA action, said he was "overjoyed with the signing of the greatest collegiate basketball player in the country."

San Diego won the first round NBA draft choice two days ago in a coin flip with the Baltimore

Bullets. The regular NBA draft isn't scheduled until May 8 but the coin flip gave the Rockets the right to go after the high scoring Hayes.

The Houston ace averaged 36.9 during the 1967-68 year in which Houston finished the regular season undefeated and ranked the nation's No. 1 team. The Cougars also won the Midwest NCAA regional but lost to both UCLA and Ohio State last weekend in the championship finals.

100-to-8 shot wins classic

DONCASTER, England (AP) — Frankincense, the second favorite who started from the outside position in a field of 31 horses, rushed into the lead on the last furlong and held on for a half-length victory over Waterloo Place in the Lincolnshire Handicap Wednesday.

The one-mile straightaway race was the first of three Irish Sweepstakes races and the first half of a betting combination Britshers like to play. The other half is the Grand National Steeplechase at Aintree this Saturday.

Carrying 131 pounds, the most for a winner of the race in this century, the 100-to-8 shot kept off the pace until the last furlong. Then, with Greville Starkey up, he came charging through, held off a late challenge by Waterloo Place and won $15,878 for his owner, Lady Halifax.

The total purse, however, was a meager sum compared with the money that was available to sweepstakes winners. First prize alone was worth $120,000.

Apparently a lot of British bettors were winners, too, because Frankincense was well backed, one bookie said.

The other two sweeps races are the Irish Derby June 28 and the Cambridgehire Oct. 19.

For the Grand National, Frankincense is backed in the betting with favored horses, including Different Class, a 10-to-1 favorite owned by film star Gregory Peck.

Richie's brother

Another Allen for Phils?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Recollections of 10 days in the Florida sun — there's another Allen in the Philadelphia Phillies' training camp. Ron Allen, 24, brother of the famous Rich, showed manager Gene Mauch some promise at first base. Ron says it sometimes is tough because people compare him to Rich. "People expect me to be the same kind of hitter or even better, and because I'm bigger, they think I should hit harder," said Ron, a switch hitter, a physical education major, he split the off-season by going to Youngstown University and working as a draftsman for the city of Youngstown. "I promised my brothers, Rich and Hank, I'd complete my education if they let me play pro ball, said the youngest of the baseball playing Allens."

Bob Veale, Pittsburgh pitcher, says deposed manager Harry Walker wanted to win "as much if not more than any man I ever played with or for in baseball. It was obvious he knew baseball as well if not better than any man. He was a misunderstood person." ... Gary Kolb, Pirates' utility catcher, played every position for the Columbus Jets in the last game of the 1967 season. ... Phils' manager Mauch says of left hander Woody Fryman, "He's a little quicker than I realized. He and pitching coach Al Widmar got together on a changeup that I know is going to make him a better pitcher."

Mauch is getting a little tired of being asked how he expects to replace Jim Bunning. "You don't replace a Jim Bunning," he declared. He predicted, however, Fryman, one of four acquired in the Bunning deal with Pittsburgh, would combine with Chris Short to win 26 games, as many as the Bunning-Short combination did in 1967. Since a healthy Short should win 20, it's not much of a prediction. ... The Phillies' skipper also said right hander Rick Wise is on the threshold of greatness. He said Wise, who won 9 of his last 14, has to work against beating himself with the base on balls or poor fielding. "He needs only experience and a constant reminder of how good he is," said Mauch.

Mike Ryan, the Phillies' new catcher obtained from the Red Sox, borrowed a bat from first baseman Bill White and liked it so White, using a new stick this year, gave Mike a whole box of them. Ryan incidentally, was married after last fall's World Series and he brought his bride to camp. Ryan hated to leave the Red Sox since he lives only 30 miles from Fenway Park and it was a boyhood ambition to play for the American League club. ... Maury Wills says baseball can be reduced to mental outlook.

Will you let him drink it?

For teenagers, liquor is strictly fire-water. Like fire, it fascinates them. A fatal fascination resulting in more than 2,000 traffic deaths a year. Because one drink can affect some teenagers the way three or four would an adult. They can't see the danger. So you must. After all, isn't that what parents are for?

Kapcala earns third team PIAA All-State cage honors

HARRISBURG (AP) — Wilbert Robinson, who led Laurel Highlands to its first PIAA Class A state basketball championship, was named to the Pennsylvania Associated Press All-State Scholastic Basketball Team Wednesday.

The team, picked by sports writers and broadcasters, also included Dennis Wuycik of Ambridge, a first team selection last year; Paul Hoffman of Hazleton St. Gabriel; Paul Biko of Scranton Cathedral; and Craig Littlepage of Cheltenham. Wuycik, who helped lead Ambridge to the state championship in 1967, was the top vote-getter, but Robinson was not far behind. Littlepage was the only junior chosen for first team honors.

All but Wuycik competed in post-season playoffs. Robinson scored 31 points to lead Laurel Highlands to a 63-56 championship victory over Cheltenham. Biko had 38, as Cathedral edged St. Basil of Carrick, 77-76, for the PIAA Class B title.

Wuycik averaged 32.2 points a game in his final season. In one game against Butler, the 6-6 senior scored 50 points. Last year Ambridge landed two players on the first team — a PIAA record with his 31 points in a Class A title game. The mark was established in 1965 by Sim Hill of Midland. Robinson's average for the year was 28.7.

Hoffman, who played varsity basketball for four years, became the state's fourth highest all-time scorer with 2,209 career points. His output was exceeded only by Ron Krick, Larry Miller and Wilt Chamberlain.

HARRISBURG (AP) — Here is the 1968 Pennsylvania All-State Scholastic Basketball Team named Wednesday by the Associated Press:

FIRST TEAM

Dennis Wuycik, 6-6 senior, Ambridge.

Wilbert Robinson, 6-2 senior, Laurel Highlands.

Paul Hoffman, 6-4 senior, Hazleton St. Gabriel.

Paul Biko, 6-0 senior, Scranton Cathedral.

Craig Littlepage, 8-5 junior, Cheltenham.

SECOND TEAM

White Sox aim for AL pennant

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox will go as far as Joe Horlen, Gary Peters, Tommy John, a strong bullpen and Tommy Davis' bat can take them.

Eddie Stanky talks bravely of playing his eight best hitters, regardless of defense, but the Sox must do it again with finesse, pitching and limited power.

"We're shooting for a pennant in 1968, not 1970," said Stanky. "I want the 25 men who can help me most right now. In this game you worry about one year at a time. Look at what happened to the Yankees—first in 1964 and sixth the next. Or the Red Sox—ninth one year and first the next."

Since the close of last season, the White Sox have been active in the trade mart. No less than 21 players were involved, coming and going.

Much of Stanky's hopes for improved hitting depend on the veterans, including 36-year-old Ken Boyer.

"We have added a great number of plus factors since last year," said Stanky. "When you talk about power everybody thinks you mean home runs, but not the managers. Men like Tommy Davis and Boyer are real good RBI men and good two-strike hitters."

Stanky's starting rotation is set with two left-handers, Peters and John, and two right-handers, Horlen and Jack Fisher. Fisher also came from the Mets. Cisco Carlos, a two-time winner last fall, could win the fifth job. He started three of the first 11 spring games.

Hoyt Wilhelm, trim and ready at the age of 44, is the master of the best bullpen in the majors with such helpers as Wilbur Wood, who has learned the knuckler from Wilhelm, Don McMahon and Bob Locker.

Davis in left field and Luis Aparicio at shortstop are the only men sure to play the same position every day. The infield is a fluid situation. Either Tommy McCraw or Pete Ward will play first base and either Boyer or Ward will play third.

Second base has been wide open all spring despite the addition of Tim Cullen from Washington. Stanky has liked the work of Sandy Alomar and Dick Littleton, a rookie from Evansville in the Southern League.

Russ Snyder, former Baltimore property, has been playing center field most of the time with Ken Berry as his alternate. Buddy Bradford and Bill Voss, both of whom showed home run power on the Indianapolis farm last season, may play in right.

Hats off to cast

Mrs. Ross Transue, Helen Scavo and Mrs. Vince Yanovitch take their hats off to all those who have been rehearsing for the Mesh Stockings and Mini-Skirt Follies.

Two shows to benefit pair of projects

EAST STROUDSBURG — "Mesh Stockings and Miniskirts" will be two of the many current follies to be satirized in the Junior Woman's Club's Follies to be presented Friday and Saturday at the East Stroudsburg High School Auditorium.

A cast of about 60 will present dancing and singing choruses, skits, and solo numbers beginning at 8 p.m.

Proceeds from the show will be used for two of the club's welfare projects: The Kiwanis Pre-School for the mentally retarded and the children's department at the Monroe County Public Library.

Mesh Stockings — Mini-Skirts

Two going far

"In the business called show, we're gonna go far," sing Fun Girls, Mrs. Carl Adelmann and Mrs. John Martin.

Special invitation

We Want You! To Come to the Follies, that is. The show will be Friday and Saturday at East Stroudsburg High School. Extending the invitation are, Mrs. Helen Bennett, Mrs. Marilyn Litts and Mrs. Barbara Miller.

'Baseball Umpires' receive instructions

The "Baseball Umpires" listen intently as the director choreographs the routine. Calling the balls and strikes are: front, Harold Bentzoni, Bob Miller,

Don't you believe it

"I Won't Dance," say, right to left, Mrs. Carl Adelmann, Mrs. Ross Transue, Mrs. Ronald Fish, Mrs. Stan Wilush and Mrs. George Litts. But don't you believe it.

Final polish to waltz step

Reviewing the waltz steps with director Neal Hanslik, right, are Peg and Dave Galloway. Featured soloist for this number is Mrs. John Pentz.

Stepping high in line

Stepping high in the kick-line will be Mrs. Charles James, Mrs. Lyn Karl and Mrs. Al Adelmann.

Musical arrangements

Neal Hanslik, director, goes over the musical arrangements with Bill Barth, pianist. The Bill Barth Trio will provide the musical accompaniment for the show.

Promotion month plan to open

STROUDSBURG — Tourist Promotion Month will officially be unveiled in the Pocono Mountains at the full membership meeting of the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau.

Area officials on the borough, township and county level will be the guests of the PMVB at the dinner-session scheduled for the Holiday Inn near Minisink Hills. The affair will get underway at 6:30 p.m.

The PMVB will combine its regular business session with a Tourist Promotion Program now underway throughout Pennsylvania. A proclamation from Gov. Raymond P. Shafer will be read and the state's role in promoting tourism and recreation in the Keystone State will be explained.

Charles Poalillo, of Penn Hills Lodge, who is vice president of the PMVB, will be in charge of the program.

Robert Uguccioni, executive director of the PMVB, will list the projects being developed by the resort, hotel, motel, restaurant and attraction industry in the Poconos.

Malaysians help war refugees

SAIGON (AP) — The Malaysian Embassy has turned over $20,000 worth of relief supplies to South Vietnam to aid refugees forced to flee their homes during the Viet Cong's Tet new year offensive.

No injuries in accident

STROUDSBURG—Stroudsburg Borough Police reported no injuries in a two-car accident Monday at 2:55 p.m. at the intersection of Fourth and McConnell Streets.

Cars were driven by Dennis W. Morgan of Hazleton, and a student at East Stroudsburg

State College, and Mrs. Lorraine S. Fenner of Sciota.

According to police, Morgan was traveling south on N. Fourth Street and failed to stop for a stop sign and his car struck the right rear of the Fenner vehicle.

Your Horoscope

By Francis Drake

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You can accomplish more on this day than you may think. All situations and problems need not be as difficult as they appear on the surface; keep plugging.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Don't anticipate failure, neither look for sudden success. A conscientious program and an optimistic attitude will help you surmount difficulties, irksome tasks. You may gain by that "one more try."

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Especially favored now: Outdoor pursuits, transportation, agriculture, engineering, reconstruction, bargaining. But a steady hand and head will be needed.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Planetary influences stimulate intellectual pursuits, eagerness and carefully directed ambitions. If impulsive or hurried, day won't please. Think constructively and avoid errors.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Born before July 30; take more care in the romance and domestic departments. All Leos: Put thought before talk, and walk before you run if you would stay out of traps.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Good Mercury influences. Accomplish as much as you can while time and opportunity are here. You will be glad later. Don't mind obstacles; they are normal, and challenge your abilities.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Follow the basic formula — facts, the further learning that MUST be acquired for right solutions. No matter what your position, you CAN go UP, and there are smart maneuvers you can begin NOW.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — This should be a day for stepping back to view your projects and methods with an eye toward revitalizing, even if only in small part. Remain poised, undismayed, ready for bigger and better opportunities.

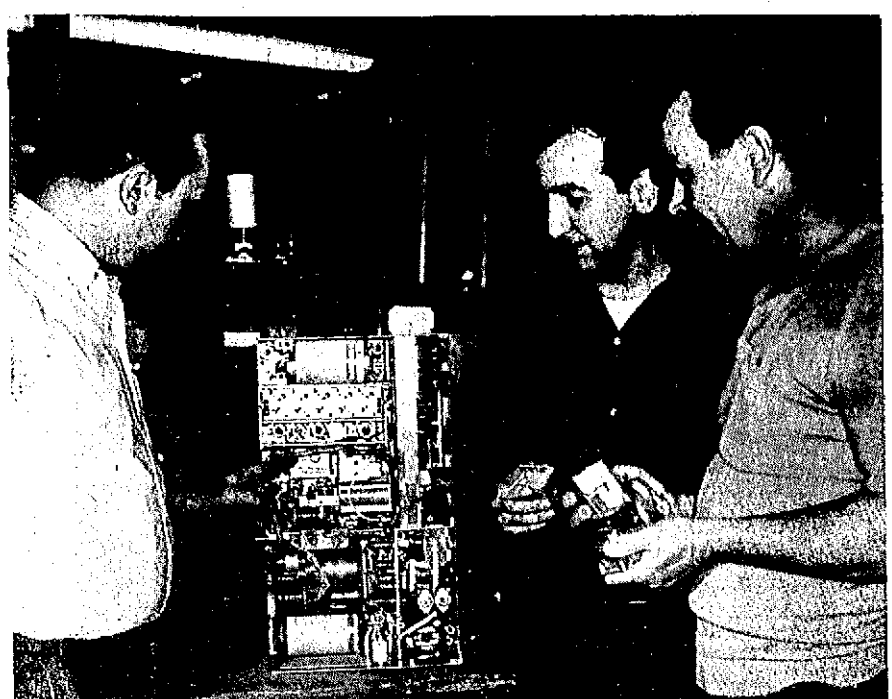

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Negative factors need not disturb if you keep situations in hand and study the "whys," then take measures as you go along. Do not let things go until the last minute.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn) — Especially favored now: Educational pursuits, travel, research. Achievement is possible in out-of-the-ordinary ways and places.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius) — If conscientious and cooperating with the right sources, you should enjoy better-than everyday credits. Understanding, better deals shaping up.

February 24 to March 23 (Pisces) — A splendid Neptune aspect stimulates artistry and encourages new tries at enterprises which may have failed before but still have potential.

YOU BORN TODAY are a quick thinker and equally quick in acting, but can get into "hot water" this way if not careful. You like doing things with cheerful people; travel stimulates your intellect. Your business acumen and bright attitude are outstanding; also your fearlessness and enduring energy. Birthdate of: Herbert Lehmann, American statesman.

Share awards for suggestions

Demonstrating their idea, which saved an estimated $5,000 in repair costs at Tobyhanna Army Depot, are, left to right: Donald Pukita, Scranton; Joseph Matriciano, Hazleton; and Henry Gieda, Dickson City. The suggestion, a method to more quickly and simply adjust radio transmitter sets, resulted in a $235 award, shared equally by the men who work together in Radio Branch of Electronics Division.

Ronson lists record sales

Official report

WOODBRIDGE, N.J. — Ronson Corp. Wednesday announced its ninth consecutive year of record sales. Consolidated net sales for 1967 rose to $101,281,275, an increase of $8,733,400 or 9.4 per cent over the previous high of $92,547,874 in 1966.

Net profits for 1967 rose six per cent to $5,304,465, as compared with $5,002,498 earned in 1966.

Louis V. Ronson II, president, said:

"Ronson's rapid sales growth is shown in clearer perspective by a comparison between sales of last year and those of 1965.

During the two years, 1966 and 1967, sales rose approximately $25,000,000, representing an increase of almost 33 per cent over 1965. Domestic and foreign sales rose in about equal proportions. Furthermore, the consistency of our growth at home and abroad is evident in the fact that Ronson's sales increase was not achieved through acquisitions but rather through internal product development, organization, marketing and markets."

Lenten Guidepost

Three inner guidance checks combine for successful life for singer

BY JEROME HINES

Star of the Metropolitan Opera

"How can you be certain that the guidance you think you receive from God is not just your own thoughts?" "A friend asked me not long ago.

I told him that before I act there are three checks I run against any inner guidance.

First, does it run contrary to God's word?

Second, are my own desires getting in the way?

Third, am I ready to act on any alternative if God so instructs me?

Actually I was totally unaware that a loving God would communicate with His children until that night back in 1952 when I committed my life to Jesus Christ.

No sooner had I put myself under His sovereignty than His voice began to direct me in some remarkable ways.

Now, of course, I don't mean I hear an actual sound. His voice is simply a thought in my thoughts, but one that stands out from them with a conviction my own thoughts never have.

New joy

From the time I began to act on His guidance there was meaning and purpose and new joy in every area of my life. Most of my difficulties came on those occasions when I preferred to rely on my own reason or what I thought to be common sense.

Like the time I did a "Voice of Firestone" broadcast, one Monday night back in 1959.

I had gone to New York early from our home in New Jersey for the final rehearsal. My wife Lucia, who was then three months pregnant, came with me.

In the middle of the afternoon she walked up to me with a frightful look on her face and said that something was wrong. She was showing the first signs of a possible miscarriage.

We knew the symptoms all too well, having been through it twice before, so I was

The sand, gravel and crushed stone needed for the interstate highway system would girdle the earth with a wall 50 feet wide and nine feet high.

alarmed and suggested she drive home right away.

But feeling as she did, she didn't like the idea of driving home alone. Silently, I asked God to help us make the right decision, and a soft inner voice seemed to say, "Let her stay. She'll be all right."

Hit by thunderbolt Much relieved, I turned to Lucia and said, "You're going to stay right here with me."

That instant I was hit by a thunderbolt. The Lord slammed into my consciousness in no uncertain terms.

"That was not My voice. Send your wife home this instant." I sat there dumfounded. Then I turned hesitantly to Lucia. "Dear," on second thought

But it was too late. She had gotten my assurance that she could stay and was holding me to it.

"Lord," I said in my heart, "she's not going to return under any conditions. Will You help anyhow?"

The answer was "Yes" but a strange foreboding sensation followed it. Meanwhile, I did everything humanly possible to safeguard her: even arranging for her own doctor to come from New Jersey to see the Television show so that he would be nearby. (I didn't tell him of my anxieties.)

Pale and sick After the show, I raced backstage to check on my wife. I found her stretched out on the cot in my dressing room, pale and sick, with our family doctor bending over her. She had had a miscarriage.

But the doctor reassured me, "We can get her to the hospital immediately," he said.

In mounting panic I appealed again to the Lord.

"She'll live. Stay calm." Soon the ambulance arrived. It raced her to the hospital where life-saving blood was given.

This experience and several others like it have taught me an important fact about guidance. If I'm really to identify His voice in my heart, I have to shut out all the other ones that I might mistake for His.

Then there was the occasion in Detroit early in my Christian life when God first spoke to me about working on skid row. I say first because it was the first of many such assignments he was to send me on.

Answer game After checking into my hotel room, I asked God just where He wanted me on skid row. The answer came back. "Come with Me and I'll show you."

Soon I was wandering through an area of bedraggled flophouses and dingy bars.

At last I came to a building on which were the words: "Rescue Missio." And now the voice inside me said unmistakably, "Here."

A little embarrassed, I walked inside, introduced myself to the minister and asked if I could help out in any capacity. He looked at me oddly and the answer was a cold "No."

After an embarrassed silence I asked awkwardly if I could sing for their service that evening, adding hastily, "You see I'm in town on a singing engagement . . . I sing at the Metropolitan Opera House."

Attitude changed "But God sent me," I protested. This statement aroused his interest and led me to tell him of the experiences that had brought me to know

Jesus Christ.

His attitude was now totally changed. He told me that an outside church was coming to hold the evening service and that he had not wished to interfere with their program. Now he felt God really had a place for me in that service. It was quickly arranged that I should sing.

That evening I was about to leave for the mission when my accompanist, Emil Danenberg, arrived at the hotel — four hours ahead of schedule.

Shabby streets "Where are you off to, Jerry?" he said.

"I've . . . ah . . . we've got a concert," I told him.

"Come on."

Without a word he followed me through shabby streets to the mission. The man leading the program greeted us with great relief.

"Thank God!" he cried. "There's been a mix-up," he said. "No one has showed up for our program tonight and the men are getting restless." Then, his face fell.

"Oh, but my wife's sick! There's no one to play the piano!"

"The Lord has taken care of that," I said, pointing to Emil. "Can he play hymns?"

"I'll try," answered Emil —

a world famous concert pianist.

Hearts opened So Emil played, and we had a meeting there none of us will ever forget.

Lives were changed that night and hearts opened — our own included — in a way that left no doubt Whose meeting that was and Who had called each of us to that place.

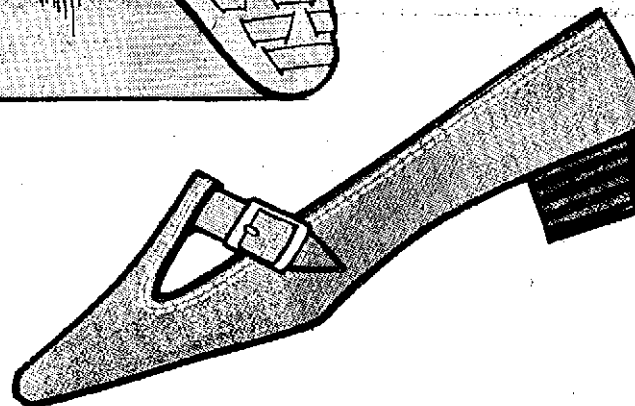

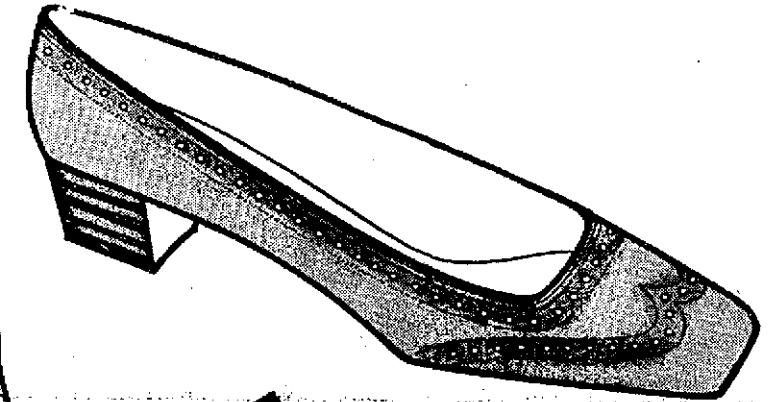

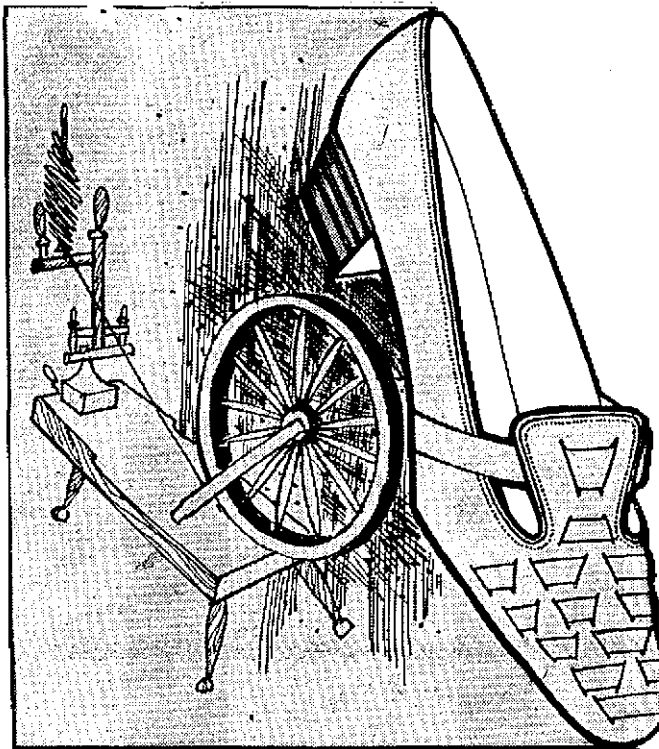

So I know with great certainty that I have and do hear His voice — and receive His help. It comes as long as I continue to turn to Jesus, as long as I continue to ask for His guidance, and as long as I am willing to obey His instructions when I receive them.

Ann Landers

Too smart to learn

Dear Ann: I have an unusual problem. Too many brains. It all started when I was in the 7th grade. The teachers decided I was too smart for the 7th grade so they promoted me to the 8th. I didn't like the kids in the 8th grade because all my friends were in the 7th.

When it came time to choose my 9th grade subjects, I wanted to take a business course, but my counselor and my mother decided I HAD to go to college so they forced me to take subjects to prepare me.

Two teachers to study

STROUDSBURG — Two area high school teachers are among the 112 individuals from 33 states who have been awarded summer study grants in journalism by the Newspaper Fund, Inc., Princeton, N.J.

Edward L. Burnett, Stroudsburg, an English teacher at Stroudsburg Area H.S. and advisor to the school's newspaper, will attend Syracuse University during the period July 1 thru July 19.

Anthony P. Cesare, Stroudsburg, a teacher at Bangor Area High School, will attend the University of Oregon during the period June 17 thru July 5.

The teachers will attend four seminars designed to strengthen their journalism teaching capabilities.

course? I want to be a secretary, not a math professor. Now I know why kids drop out.

RELUCTANT MISS EINSTEIN
Dear Miss E.: For a girl who has all those brains you are plenty dumb. Your mother and your counselor want you to stretch your mind to reach — to exercise your cerebral muscles, girl! If you want to be a secretary, fine, but don't pass up the chance to have at least a couple of years of college. You will be a better secretary for it — and a better educated woman.

Dear Ann Landers: Ellen and I were married two years ago after a stormy courtship. My older brother used to date Ellen and when they broke up it was a mess — ugly stores were circulated by both sides.

When Ellen and I married, my brother was in the service and out of the country, so that solved the problem of whether or not to have him at the wedding. At family get-togethers they barely speak.

Now my brother has announced that he is going to be married and he wants me to be his best man. Ellen says she will not attend the wedding and that if I had the proper respect for her I wouldn't go either. I don't want to hurt my wife, but if I turn my brother down it will be the end of our friendship and my mother will be heart sick. What is the right thing to do?

NICK

Dear Nick: Tell your brother you accept. If Ellen doesn't want to attend the wedding, let her stay home.

A man who would refuse to go to his brother's wedding because his wife insists on nursing an old grudge should take the ring off his finger and put it through his nose.

Lewis honored by Rotary

MOUNT POCONO — Joe Lewis, senior at Pocono Central Catholic High School, was honored as Student of the Month for March at the regular meeting of the Pocono Mountains Rotary Club.

Lewis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Lewis of Mountainhome.

Malcom "Max" Buckley, director of community service for the host club introduced Father Robert Galligan, who in turn presented Joe to the club.

Father Galligan said that Joe is a good student with outstanding leadership qualities, an excellent athlete and a stalwart on the Kingsmen basketball team.

Nick Piperata, from the Social Security Office in Easton, was the guest speaker.

Pleasant note ends concerts

By GEORGE BARNA
EAST STROUDSBURG — The current Community Concert series ended on a pleasant note Sunday afternoon at East Stroudsburg High School with the duo recital of the Chinese artists Ma Si-Hon, violinist, and Tung Kwong-Kwong, pianist, in real life, husband and wife.

Their program was built along traditional lines and did not offer any novelties except the "Suiyuan Suite" for violin and piano composed in 1937 by Si-Hon's brother, Ma Sitson.

The couple opened their program with Mozart's charming "Sonata in F major, K.376." From the beginning it was evident that Miss Kwong-Kwong was the more poetic performer. Si-Hon's business-like approach to Mozart and his rather stolid, transparent tone, especially in the Andante movement, did little to make Mozart's sparkling music sing.

Following the Mozart, Miss Kwong-Kwong tackled the Brahms's "Variations on a Theme of Paganini, Opus 35 for Piano" and emerged rather handsomely. These variations, composed in 1863, are built around Paganini's 24th Caprice for violin.

The complete variations consist of 35 studies which vary in mood and difficulty. Brahms's "Variations" are not as popular as Rachmaninoff's setting of the same Caprice, but they are nevertheless interesting.

Miss Kwong-Kwong streaked through the "Variations" in good style. She built them around a big sound which by the last variation began to wear a little thin. Since she started on a peak it was almost impossible for her to achieve much contrast. Altogether though, her performance had excitement and a bold technique, prerequisites to any performance of this work.

The "Suiyuan Suite" consisted of three movements titled Legend, Longing for Home, and Mongolian Dance. Its Asiatic overtones and artful use of folk themes are musically convincing and almost always interesting. The "Suite" emerges as a very workmanlike composition somewhat akin to some examples of Oriental movie music supporting pictures of that genre.

As an interesting sidenote, the section marked "Longing for Home" was used from 1959-1967 as the theme song on radio broadcasts from Red China to Taiwan. Its use stopped immediately when Sitson defected to the United States in 1967.

Since the violin dominates the "Suite," I will concentrate on Si-Hon's performance. The Legend and Mongolian Dance sections were performed without much involvement and with a good deal of body movement. However, in the Longing for Home section, which is serious and broad in line, something evidently inspired Si-Hon and he played with a searching and totality, thereby making the music seem much better than it really is.

The couple ended their recital with Cesar Franck's "Sonata in A Major for Violin and Piano." This is one of Franck's glories and both artists gave him their best. Especially in the "Recitativo-Fantasia" section did Si-Hon's violin acquire a lovely tone and he really outdid himself in terms of technique and expressivity.

The only negative aspect of the afternoon was the attendance of a very small, but enthusiastic, audience. Unfortunately, artists thrive on the reception of masses — how sad it must have been to look into the audience and see so many empty seats.

2-car crash in Eastburg

EAST STROUDSBURG — East Stroudsburg Police investigated a two-car accident Saturday at 5 p.m. on S. Courtland Street. They reported no visible injuries.

The drivers were Corrine Ann Hulse, 19, of 31 N. Green St., East Stroudsburg, and Beryl Helgren, 42, of 120 Broad St., Stroudsburg.

According to police, the Hulse car was making a left turn into the Acme parking lot when the collision occurred.

No estimate of damage was given by police.

The bidding:
 South West North East
 Pass Pass 1♥ Pass
 1♠ Pass Pass Pass

Opening lead — nine of clubs. World championships are tense affairs where the players go all out and do everything they can to record their feats for the benefit of posterity. The light moments are few, but here is one enacted in Budapest way back in 1937. The names of the contestants are mercifully omitted.

The contract was one spade. North decided there was no game in the hand after his partner had passed originally and could only respond one spade to the opening heart bid. He therefore passed one spade. North's judgment was basically correct, because it turned out that the enemy could take the A-K of spades and two side aces to hold the contract to three rounds.

However, the defense didn't function well and South did much better than that. West led the nine of clubs. Declarer played low from dummy and so did East. South won with the king and led the nine of diamonds, winning in dummy with the queen.

He then played a low club. East was afraid his partner had led originally from the 9-8-7-2, which would give South the K-J alone, so he went up with the ace to prevent the jack from winning.

Declarer ruffed and entered dummy with a heart to discard his king of diamonds on the queen of clubs. Still not completely satisfied with having stolen two tricks, South decided to try and purloin one more.

He ruffed a diamond and led a low spade toward the queen. West was determined not to let the king of spades also be stolen from him, so he went up with the king.

The king held the trick for a moment — until East won it with the ace. When the queen of hearts fortunately dropped later South was able to state with justifiable pride that he had made twelve tricks on the hand. His only regret was that he had been unable to find a way of shutting out the ace of trump!

DPI to conduct seminar for conservation work

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction will conduct a Conservation and Outdoor Education Awareness Seminar at East Stroudsburg State College on Tuesday, April 16, in Zimbar Gymnasium.

Eleanor H. Bennett, conservation education adviser, will represent the D.P.I.

The purpose of the seminar is to acquaint educators with the materials and services available for the implementation of conservation and outdoor education programs. Invitations will be extended to chief school administrators, principals, vocational and agricultural personnel, teachers, and other interested school personnel.

Local arrangements for the seminar at ESSC are being made and directed by the Region S. Educational Development Center at ESSC under the director, Dr. Eugene S. Sline.

Inter-agency programs and assistance is being given by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture's Soil and Water Conservation Commission, Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, Pennsylvania Game Commission, Pennsylvania Fish Commission, and the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs Division of Topographic and Geologic Survey.

Also, the Air Pollution Control Board of the Sanitary Water Board of the Pennsylvania Department of Health, the Forest Service and Soil Conservation Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, and members of the National Park Service.

In addition to the lectures, slide presentations, and films, there will be discussion and question periods and a display of materials and teaching aids.

Blakeslee youth on dean's list

FORT WAYNE, Ind. — David J. Blakeslee, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Blakeslee, Blakeslee, was named to the "Dean's List" at Indiana Institute of Technology, Fort Wayne, Ind., for the winter quarter of the current school year.

we care

Here's to your health...and beauty...and budget!

Did you know that we have our own line of A&P Health and Beauty Aids?

It's taken us a couple of years to develop the line and we're not finished yet. Why so long?

Well, we wanted them to carry the A&P name and you know what that means.

They must be equal to or better than the nationally famous brands.

That's a steadfast rule for any product bearing the A&P name.

Here's what we have so far:

SHAMPOO	TOOTH PASTE	MULTIPLE VITAMINS	COSMETIC PUFFS
HAIR SPRAY	MOUTH WASH	VITAMINS PLUS IRON	PETROLEUM JELLY
SHAVE CREAM	ASPIRIN	COTTON SWABS	BUFFERED ASPIRIN
CHILDREN'S CHEWABLE VITAMINS	FAMILY DEODORANT

What does this mean to you?

It means a convenient opportunity for you to buy guaranteed quality products at significant savings.

Check the prices on this page. You'll see what we mean.

When you think about it... shouldn't A&P be your store?
